In Presentation

In this chronicle we have attempted to compile for our fellow graduates a complete summary of this, our final and finest year at Loughlin. We feel that our theme, Citizenship, is particularly appropriate for this year which has witnessed the election and inauguration of a new president of the United States.

It is the solemn obligation of every conscientious citizen, first, to understand thoroughly the democratic process and, second, to participate willingly and actively in the civic life of his community. Today, mankind is waging vigorous campaigns on many fronts — against poverty, disease and ignorance, against international misunderstanding and distrust. It will soon be our duty as intelligent, God-fearing citizens to continue these endeavors. We, the leaders of the new generation, inherit the grave responsibilities and the varied opportunities of the dynamic twentieth century.

REV. BROTHER BALDWIN PETER, F.S.C.

Brother Peter, who has long been interested in scholarship activities, delivers an informative lecture to the seniors.

Dedication

Brother Peter, a former member of the English Department, prepares his students for an approaching scholarship exam.

Brother Peter, who served as moderator of the Jamesonian for many years, discusses a forthcoming issue with its editors.

Karl Hempfling, James Kotowski, and John Keegan talk over their problems with Brother Peter.

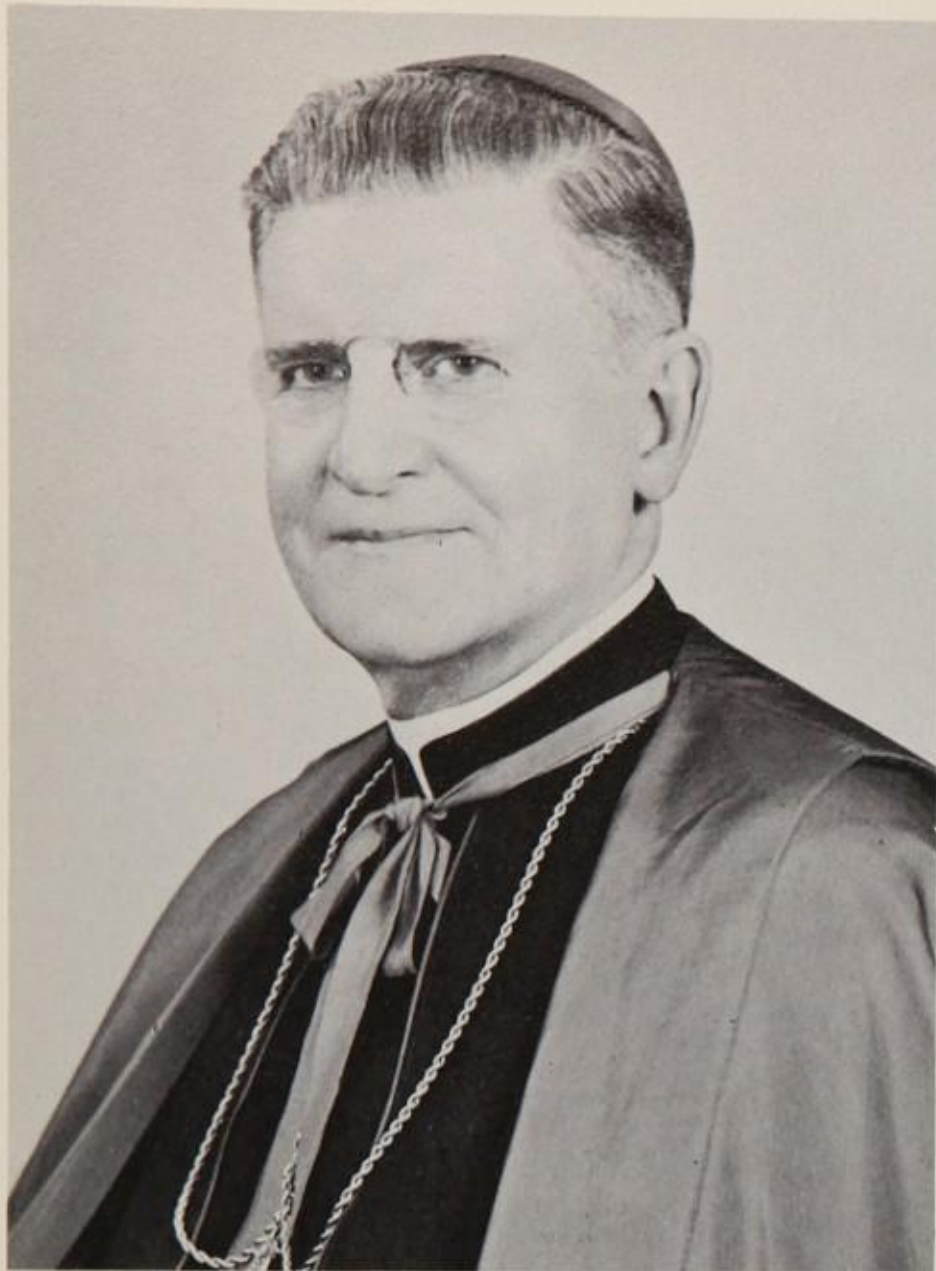

In how many ways can we measure the greatness of a man? One way is to consider the material things that he has amassed during his lifetime. But this only gives us an external view of him; it does not give us a picture of his true worth. To determine the true greatness of a man we must look at other than material possessions. We must look at the man himself.

A truly great man is one who knows how to, literally, lose his life in dedication to a cause greater than himself. For the Christian Brother this cause is the Christian Education of Youth. Devoted to his work, he does not hesitate to put it before his own welfare and happiness. He epitomizes all the qualities that a truly successful man should possess, and commands respect not only of his peers but of his superiors as well.

Taking all this into consideration, we, the editors of the LOUGHLINITE, on behalf of the Senior Class of 1961, dedicate this yearbook to our assistant principal, Brother Baldwin Peter, as a tribute to a truly great man, and as a token of our deepest gratitude for all that he has done for us in the past seven years.

In recognition of his outstanding qualities, the superiors of the Brothers of the Christian Schools have chosen to have Brother Baldwin Peter assigned this year to the Mother House in Rome for advanced religious studies. It is our sincere hope that God will shower down all His gifts and blessings upon him, and will, one day soon, bring him back to Loughlin.

Brother Charles explains the mechanism of the typewriter to his senior class.

The Christian Brothers have long been noted for devotion to their work. This year Brother Cleophas Richard and Brother Charles Felix, are celebrating their twenty-fifth year in the Brothers of the Christian Schools.

Brother Cleophas Richard has done a great deal for Loughlin. The great success of the Auxiliary Drive is due largely to his capable management. He is moderator of the Student Council, and has been instrumental in bringing about reforms which have increased its efficiency in keeping order in the school.

Brother Charles Felix has acquired a reputation as an excellent teacher and an inspiration to his students. He is also the moderator of the Photography Club, which has contributed many of the pictures that appear on these pages. In addition to all that he does at Loughlin during the school year, Brother goes up to LaSalle School in Albany, where he spends summers teaching arts and crafts to orphans.

Both of these Brothers have spent twenty-five years in diligent labor for Christian Education. For this we congratulate them, and hope that God will raise up many more like them to follow in their footsteps.

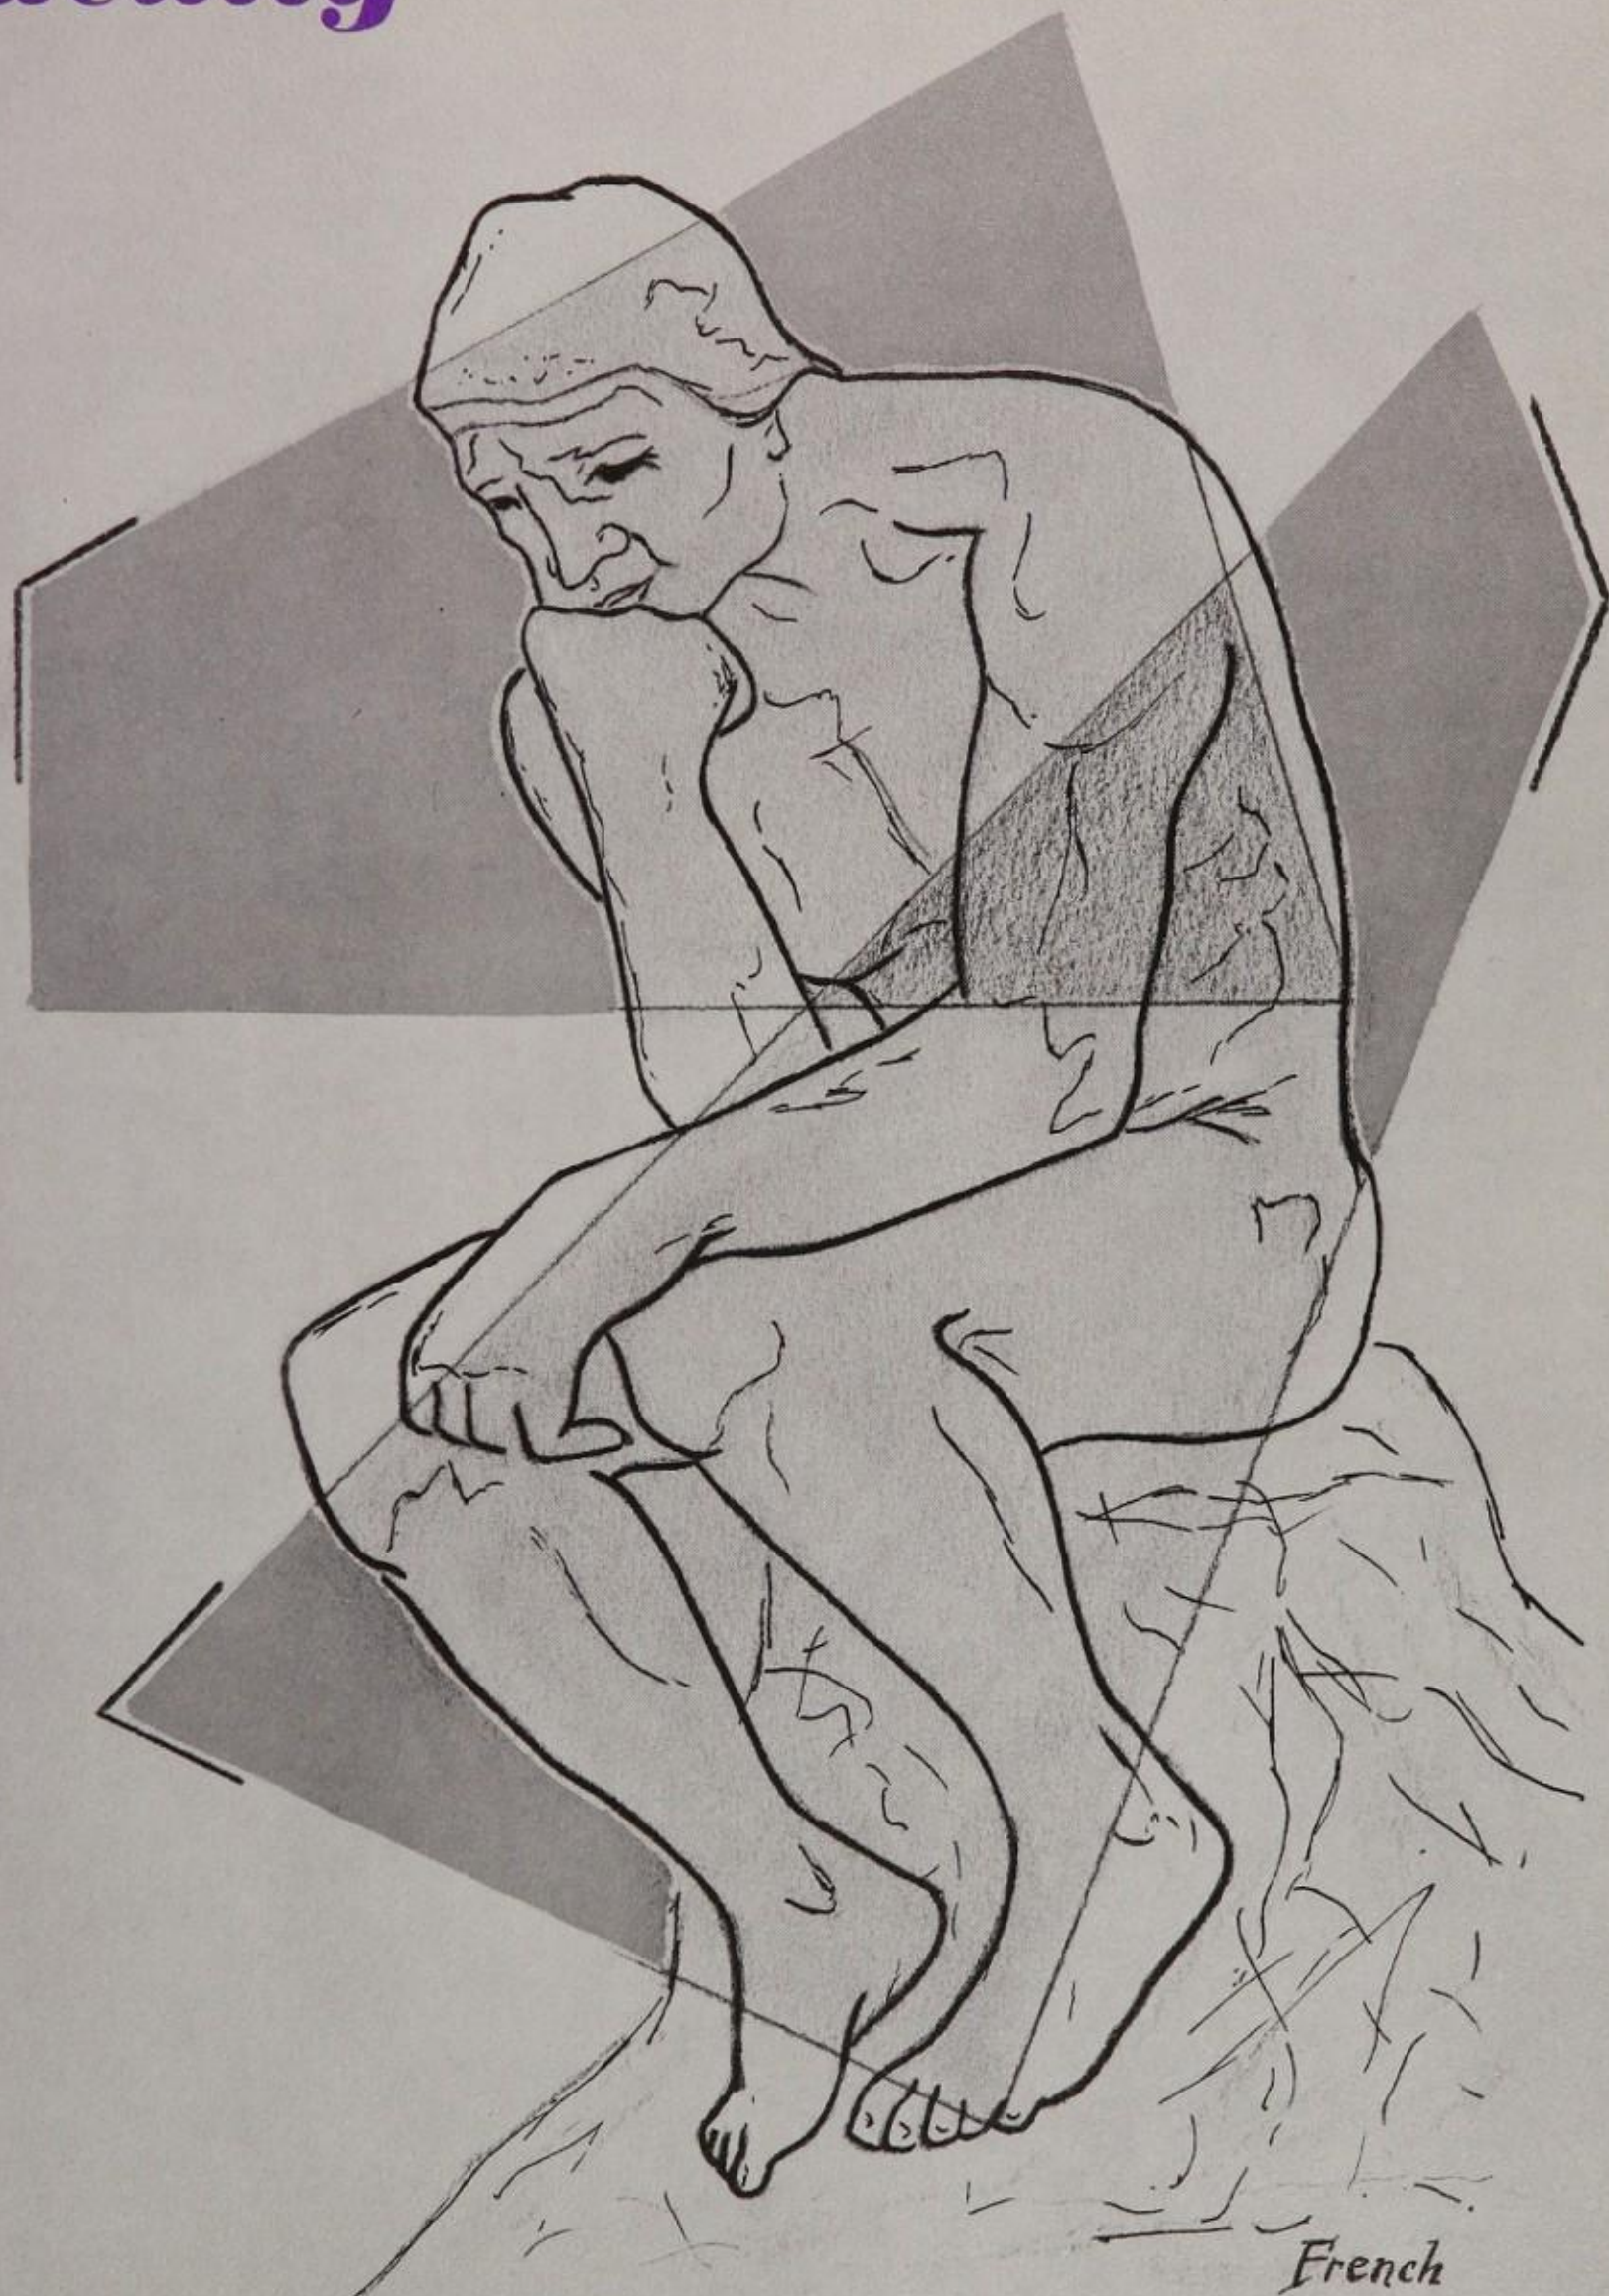

Brother Richard assists Raymond Solecki and John O'Shea in performing an experiment in the Chemistry Lab.

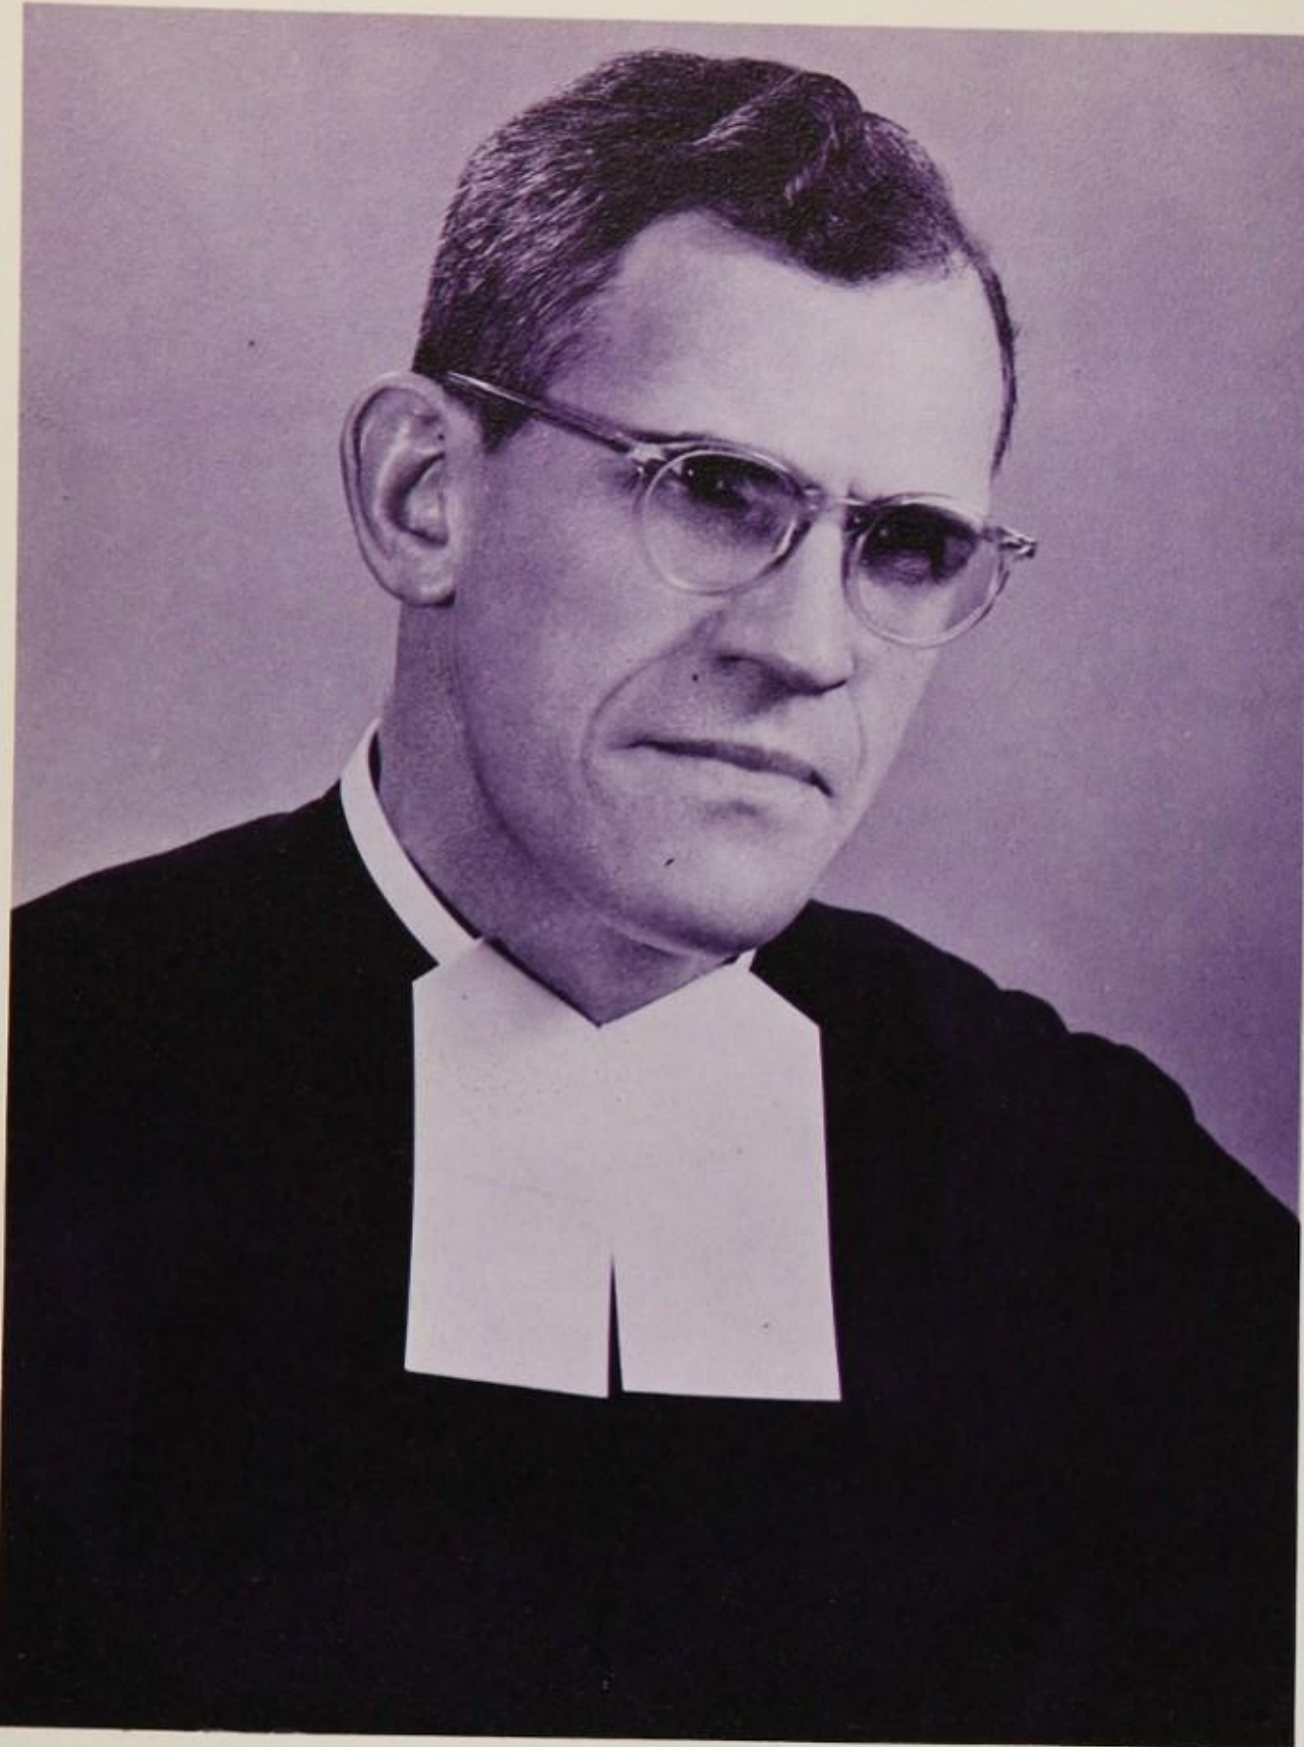

The inculcation of a Christian mentality and the furtherance of academic knowledge constitute the aims of a dedicated faculty. Through our teachers, we at Loughlin learn to grasp the reality of the two environments which we inhabit, the spiritual and the material.

Our spiritual and intellectual formation these past four years has been fostered by the competence and solicitude of the Brothers of the Christian Schools. These religious educators, together with a lay faculty of devoted and conscientious teachers, have labored to share with us their own vision of the true, the good, and the beautiful. They are shining examples of manhood, a credit to their God and to their country.

Religion reveals God's designs for all mankind

"Now this is eternal life: That they may know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent."

—JOHN 17:3

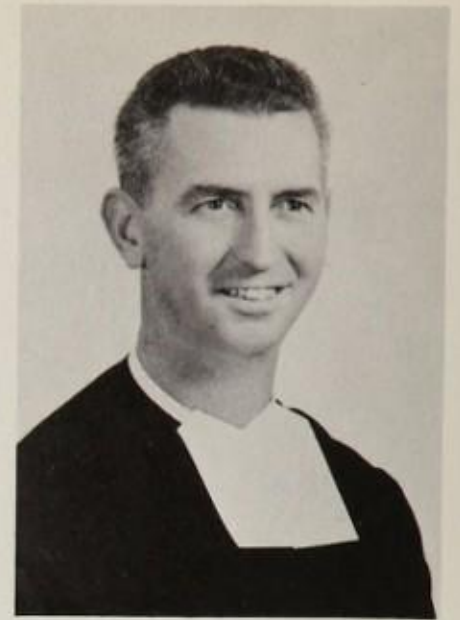

Unfortunately, the student of Religion too often fails to consider that the profound lessons studied in class are indeed an intrinsic part of his daily life. Every aspect of our lives is governed by certain basic concepts—God, as He who speaks, and man, as he who responds to this word.

Throughout the course of his four years at Loughlin, each student acquires a thorough knowledge of God's magnificent design for re-establishing all things in Christ. Possessing this knowledge, and possessed by it, he is prepared to enjoy a full and fruitful life in witnessing to these truths.

This religious training molds the Loughlin man into a stalwart, uncompromising personality who is ever willing to defend his vision of God and country.

Latin: the embodiment of Rome's past glory

"Rome! The city of all time, and of all the world."
—HAWTHORNE

That language and culture which we call Latin evolved from those of Greece when the Romans fused their own materialistic and practical ideals with the aesthetic and philosophical concepts of the subjugated race. As the empire spread, this combined culture was diffused throughout the world—the essence of ancient civilization being thus unwittingly preserved for future generations.

When Rome finally fell in 496 A.D. this language and culture survived. Latin mingled with the barbaric tongues to form the numerous native dialects. During the Dark Ages, it became the vernacular of scholars and the official language of Holy Mother Church.

Latin—an invaluable asset to the study of any language—still retains an important position in the curriculum of most secondary schools and universities. It has often erroneously been called a dead language; but as long as man seeks to improve himself by learning from the old, Latin will never die.

English develops skill in the literary arts

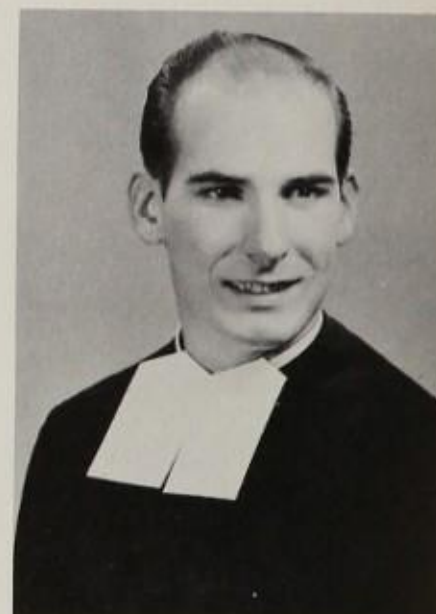

"He who commands words, commands events, commands men."
—STARNES

That there is a great power in the written word, capable of exerting a tremendous influence over the thoughts and actions of other men, is evidenced by the fact that a free press has always been considered an essential element in a democracy.

The mark of a successful man is the ability to think logically, and to express his ideas with a certain facility, both in oral and in written form. To possess these important qualities, and to have a well rounded personality, it is necessary to have an extensive background in literature. For it is only by reading and assimilating the works and opinions of others that we are able to mold and shape our own vague ideas into firm and tangible beliefs.

At Loughlin each student receives a liberal background in American and English literature, and he is encouraged, through creative writing and public speaking, to express his own ideas, so that, through his command of the English language, he too, might one day influence the world around him.

History reaches from the past to teach the present

"History is the essence of innumerable biographies."
—CARLYLE

The history of mankind is not simply a chronicle of significant events. It is rather a story of men. Clearly and vividly, history unfolds for us the accomplishments and the failures, the virtues and the foibles, the success and the despair of our forbears.

History is a narrative of the slow and painful evolution of democracy—of the "progress of conscientious Freedom," from which we acquire a deeper appreciation of the true value of liberty.

However, history is far more than a modern-day epic. It is a living, growing entity whose profundity of thought and deed can only encourage us to imitate those who have made themselves worthy of our admiration. Man is the most complex and nearly-perfectly organism ever conceived upon the earth. History, as an analysis of great men, proves to be a most enriching study.

Mathematics: a medium of scientific advances

"Mathematics possesses not only truth, but supreme beauty—sublimely pure, and capable of stern perfection."

—RUSSELL

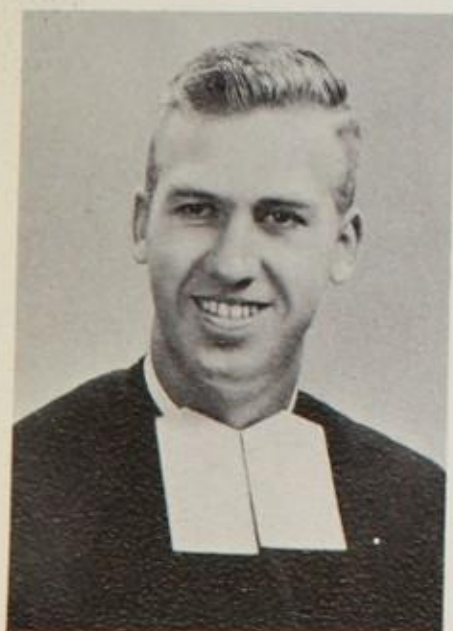

Mathematics is universally recognized as the language of science. For many centuries great minds have sought the satisfaction arising from the correct solution by logical deductions of a perplexing theoretical problem.

Mathematics is, furthermore, a thoroughly practical study. It is the basis of modern civilization, without which our highly technical standards could never have been developed.

In order to keep pace with the advanced status of today's modern living, our society issues an ever increasing demand for competent scientists and engineers. Loughlin's extensive mathematics program provides its graduates with a firm basis with which to pursue these advanced studies.

Science discovers and explores new horizons

"The history of science is science itself."

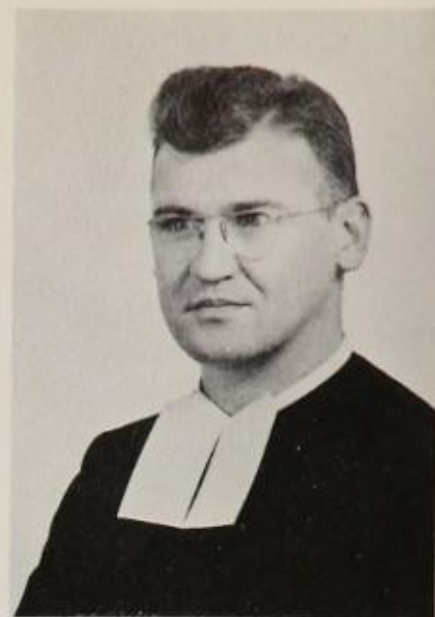

—VON GOETHE

Man is ever in search of new conquests. His is a mind continually challenging the unknown world of his experience, both within and without himself. This thirst for knowledge is intrinsic to his very nature and it continually drives him forward in pursuit of perfection.

Science is the product of man's attempts to understand and control his position in relation to the material universe surrounding him. The scientist—choosing all creation, and even life itself, for his field of interest—is presented with all-encompassing, unlimited vistas. His is the power either to elevate society or to swiftly annihilate all mankind.

French: the study of Gallic customs, culture

"Men pass, but France is eternal."

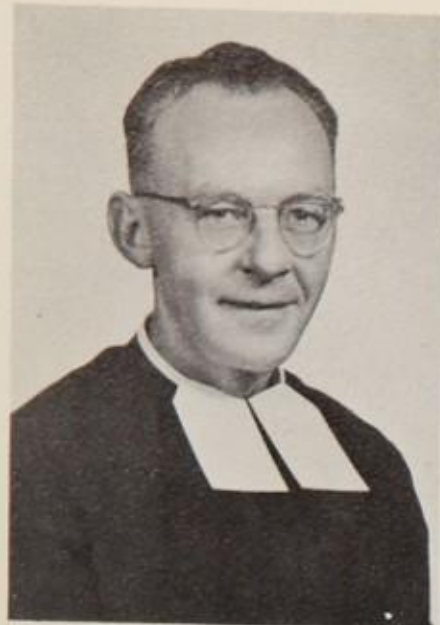

—GIRAUD

France has, since the time of Charlesmagne, given birth to countless personages whose various endeavors, while enhancing the fame of France itself at the same time have benefited all humanity.

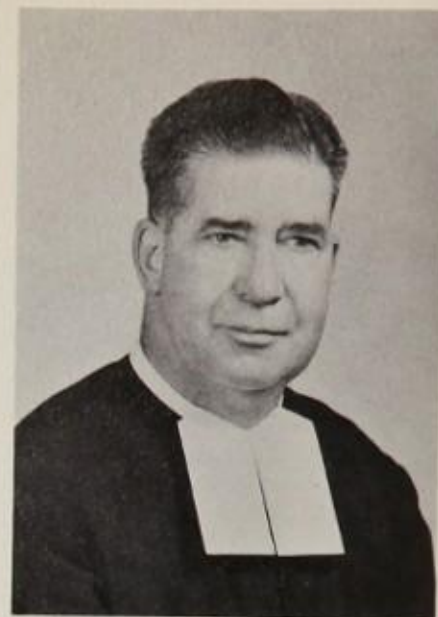

In the arts and sciences, especially, the French have merited great acclaim. Such renowned men, as Rousseau, Voltaire, Pasteur, and Curie, have, in the form of theories and philosophies, bequeathed to France a priceless legacy. If these precious doctrines live on, can France be forgotten?

The student at Loughlin, as he acquires a fluent comprehension of the French Language, becomes thoroughly familiar with the people, customs, and culture that have enabled France to attain the foremost position which it today enjoys.

Business: the result of unrestricted enterprise

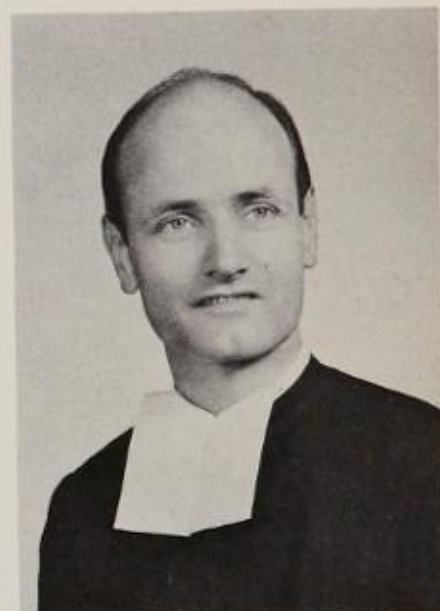

"Seest thou a man diligent in business? He shall stand before kings."
—PROVERBS 22:29

The most recent innovation in Loughlin's curriculum is the addition of several commercial subjects to our ever-expanding academic program. These courses are designed primarily to provide a more solid background for those interested in entering the business field immediately upon graduation.

The heart and core of America's free enterprise system is the small independent business-man. The economy of the United States will remain sound only as long as he, as an individual, can continue to prosper.

For the inexperienced, however, the business-world can be a hostile and inclement environment. The competent staff of Brothers and laymen, therefore, attempt to thoroughly prepare the student to successfully embark upon this most rigorous and interesting career.

With the commencement exercises this June, we take away with us a wealth of knowledge and many recollections of this happy part of our lives. Ours will be the remembrance of unsure days as freshmen, awestruck at our new way of life, and mischievous days as sophomores, when fun was more important than learning. We recall our junior year, as we began preparing for our futures. With senior year, came the restraining influences of maturity coupled with the realization that soon we must part company to seek learning elsewhere.

With these thoughts, we depart from Loughlin, thankful for its harvest of learning, maturity, and memories.

The Loughlin curriculum is supplemented by a number of after-class activities, organized with a view to the further development of the social, intellectual, and athletic potentialities of each boy. The formal school dances afford the student the opportunity to become acquainted with a social life which will increase and deepen in meaning upon leaving school. The intellectual activities allow an exchange of ideas in an atmosphere more informal than that of the classroom. Lastly, a well-organized athletic program abets physical prowess while inculcating a necessary sense of sportsmanship. All three branches function as one to insure the student a well-integrated school life.

President Joe Conway and Vice-President Steve Cardos consult the Leo Honor Society's agenda with the advice of Brother Raphael.

Leo Honor Society spurs

Man is a rational animal, possessing both an intellect and will. Man can best develop his reasoning powers while he is young, and in recognition of this fact, Most Reverend Thomas E. Molloy organized the Leo Honor Society in 1943. The Leo Honor Society is now composed of the top 4% academically of the junior and senior students in our Catholic High Schools. At Loughlin, under the guidance of Brother Aloysius Raphael, moderator of the society, the organization has become one of the school's most respected activities.

Students qualify for membership in the society at the end of their sophomore year. To become a member, a Loughlinit must have maintained an average above ninety percent through the first two years, with no mark in any subject falling below eighty-five. Also, a candidate must obtain from his pastor a letter attesting to his spiritual character and his participation

Upon his admittance to the Leo Honor Society, the student receives the traditional pin of white and gold, representing his scholastic prowess and intellectual ability.

This year's elections named Joseph Conway president, while Juniors Stephen Cardos and William O'Sullivan were chosen Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively. Meetings of the entire membership were conducted every six weeks, with executive board meetings being held weekly. Also notable among the year's highlights was a convocation of the entire Leo Honor Society of the Brooklyn Diocese at St. Joseph's College, at which Loughlin's seventy-six members were present.

The Leo Honor Society should continue to act as the vanguard of students who not only work diligently at their studies, but are active in all phases of school life.

Spiritual life encouraged through Legion of Mary

Keeping in mind the power of Mary before the throne of God, the Legion of Mary strives to serve Our Lady in every possible way. This lay organization relieves the many duties of the priest while furthering the cause of Christ throughout the world.

At Loughlin, the Legion has grown to five praesidia in just a few short years. Aside from the active members, there are hundreds of auxiliary members who further the work of the Legion through prayer. Under the careful guidance of Brother B. Raymund, Brother A. Henry, Brother B. Dominic and Brother M. Wilfrid, members actively bring souls closer to Christ. The Legionaries teach public school children the truths of the Catholic religion in the poorer parishes of Brooklyn. Others give a helping hand at the Doctor White Settlement House and St. Joseph's School for the Deaf. They are directly responsible for the first Communions, Confirmations and even Baptisms of many children.

The Loughlin section of the organization meets weekly in an effort to exchange ideas and coordinate activities. Periodic meetings of the Legion are held on a national scale, wherein the representatives of various regions discuss common problems and approaches in this Marian endeavor.

Benilde Club assists in the quest for vocations

Statistics show all too clearly the need for an increase in religious vocations. There are only one and a half million priests, brothers and nuns to care for the spiritual and temporal needs of a half billion Catholics in the world today. Now with the rapidly increasing Catholic population, the need for religious vocations has become critical. The Benilde Club was established four years ago to aid in the alleviation of this crisis.

The members of the Benilde Club are asked to offer one extra Mass each week and to say three Our Fathers, Hail Marys, and Glorias every day for this worthy intention. In addition to their prayers, three very successful drives were conducted this year under the supervision of the moderator, Brother B. Stephen, for the benefit of the foreign missions. The results of the various drives vividly manifest the Loughlin spirit as prodigious quantities of stamps, used Christmas cards and canned food inundated the school.

As a result of the fervent devotion of the Benilde Club members, many boys have been turned towards the path which leads to God through serving Him.

Archconfraternity fosters true religious spirit

Once each month during the school year, Loughlin's entire student body takes time out from their studies to attend the meeting of the Archconfraternity of the Divine Child. The agendas are carefully planned in advance by George Schneider, A.D.C. president, with assistance from Brother Raymund, the faculty advisor.

Through their combined efforts, guest speakers from various religious communities have spoken at the assemblies. Each speaker attempts to acquaint the boys with the history and purpose of his particular congregation. One of these visitors, Father Romanus, on behalf of the Friars of the Atonement, explained their work to the students and urged them to listen to a Sunday morning radio program which the Friars themselves produce in honor of Christ's Immaculate Mother.

All students are enrolled as members at the headquarters of the society in Bethlehem. Their duties are to pray for the cause of Christian education and for an increase in vocations. Through the fulfillment of their own obligations and through the efforts of guest speakers the final goals of the Archconfraternity are realized.

Student Council maintains discipline of the school

In any organization requiring the close contact of a number of people, there must be some sort of governing body. At Loughlin, it is the Student Council. Its purpose is to maintain good order and conduct in the school.

The Student Council consists of seniors chosen at the termination of their third year by the faculty. The criteria for selection are both a fine character and the ability to accept authority. Much responsibility is intrusted to the councilors, who diligently try to prevent any transgression of school regulations. Any disregard for these regulations is subject to the discipline of the Student Court. The chief justice of this judicial body is Richard DeMarco, who, along with his fellow judges, metes out punishment in proportion to the gravity of the crime.

In November, Senior elections were held and Joe Centrella was elected President of the Student Council. Under both his, and Brother Richard's direction, the council is being designed to operate more efficiently and effectively. The constitution of the school is being revised by a group of students interested in school government. The main purpose of the revision is to clarify terms and bring it up to date, thus preventing it from becoming obsolete.

The student councilor, upon receiving his badge, is assigned to a certain post, which may be in the corridors or the cafeteria or even on the stairs. His badge signifies the discipline he commands, while his summons book stands ready as a weapon of enforcement.

By guiding the discipline of the underclassmen, he is performing a valuable service, for he is setting an example which they will someday follow when they themselves wear the badge of the Student Councilor.

Chief Justice R. DeMarco, together with associate Judges J. Centrella, M. Delia, G. Bertles, J. Hanna and D. Taddoni, considers the case of E. Kaiser, brought to justice by J. Pricci.

Musicians broaden talent by orchestra membership

William Valery and Patrick Mahoney comprise Loughlin's percussion section.

Although peoples through this world speak diversified languages, one sound is international. No matter what language you speak, upon hearing it, you understand. It is the sound of music. Listening to music can produce numerous effects. It can make us sad or happy; it can recall memories or encourage dreams. These fascinating sounds are a creation brought about only by good musicians.

The Orchestra at Loughlin endeavors to develop the talents of its members. Under the expert advice of Mr. Consoli, and the patient help of Brother Ambrose, the boys advance with great progress from Freshman through Senior Year. Each year the Orchestra produces a Spring Music Festival with the co-operation of the Glee Club. This Spring Festival, together with the memorable performance in the Christmas Show, constitute the orchestral highlights of this past year.

Mr. Consoli also acts as violin instructor for promising students, some of whom have never played before. Thus Loughlin's Orchestra, after twenty-eight years of faithful service, is assured in the years to come of a full complement of talented musicians.

Choral group abounds with harmonious strains

One of the most ancient forms of artistic expression is that of song, the art of producing music with the voice. Before primitive man thought to paint a design on the wall of a cave or to chip at a stone to fashion an image, he was capable of singing, crude though it may have been. In view of the pleasure and satisfaction singing affords to both the artist and his audience, Brother Alfred Edward organized the Loughlin Glee Club in 1954. Brother Basilian, the present moderator of the activity, came to Loughlin in 1959 and since that time has guided the Lion Choraleers to success in many contests.

The Glee Club's accomplishments have not been achieved without the hard work necessary for success in any field of endeavor. All members are required to attend bi-weekly practice sessions and the results of their diligent efforts can easily be seen at any school assembly or other gathering at which they perform. At this year's Christmas Show, the Choraleers provided fine entertainment for students and faculty alike. They also utilized their talents in the annual Spring Music Festival and performed at several homes for the aged and the blind in the metropolitan area.

Since its inception seven years ago, the Loughlin Glee Club has steadily developed and with its development has brought many honors to the school. With good talent and an experienced moderator, the future of the Glee Club is indeed a bright one.

Jamesonian focuses spotlight on school events

For almost thirty years, the Jamesonian has been the medium through which news of all phases of life at Loughlin reaches the student body. That the Jamesonian performs its task well is confirmed by the numerous awards and citations it has received since its inception as the journal of Loughlin's famed predecessor, St. James' Academy. An honor of which the paper is especially proud is the first place award presented last year to the Jamesonian by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

As is the case in all successful organizations, the Jamesonian has reached the heights it has attained through the cooperation of many people. Although the paper is actually composed and operated by the student editors, the suggestions and guidance of Brother Christopher Charles, the activity's moderator, have proved to be of invaluable assistance. Supervising the editorial staff is Editor-in-Chief Jack Loiello who, with Assistant Editors Rich Crimmins and Joe DeLessio, must be commended for their extraordinary page planning. In addition, Ken Kubat and Jim Candia should be credited for the many fine feature articles with which the Jamesonian has come to be identified. Joe Green and Ken Greene ably handled the duties of the copy department, while Steve Connors was responsible for the paper's business transactions. Lastly, the many photographs adorning the Jamesonian's pages were the work of Ray Solecki.

Over the years the Jamesonian has grown with Loughlin and has been a credit to the school. Loughlin has a long and proud tradition, of which the Jamesonian has always been an inherent part.

First Medalist award won

To present a resumé of our four years at Loughlin is the aim of the Senior Class in presenting the 1961 edition of the Loughlinite. It is our hope that this edition will be among the best, if not the greatest, and that it will follow its predecessors by being rated one of the highest in scholastic competition. Last year's edition, for example, was awarded the Medalist Certificate by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and a First Class Honor Rating by the National Scholastic Press Association.

A work such as the 1961 Loughlinite is the result of the combined and untiring efforts of many people. Great credit must be given, of course, to several Brothers, especially to Brother Christian, without whose advice and guidance this volume would not have been possible. Brother Aquinas Kevin also deserves our sincere thanks for his invaluable counsel on the literary sections in the book.

But by far the production of this yearbook is due to the coordinated work of the Loughlinite staff. Heading the list is Steve Czuchlewski, who served in the capacity of Editor-in-Chief and saw to the orderly functioning of the various sections of the book. The layout and planning of the Senior Section must be attributed to John Gifford, Editor of the Senior Section, while Don Geraghty, as Sports Editor, was responsible for that part of the volume devoted to athletics. Finally, Activities Editor Paul Wolski is to be credited for his fine job in depicting the many extracurriculars for which Loughlin is noted. However, space does not permit the names of the many others who labored so unceasingly to turn out the traditional memento of the graduating class. The reward for their efforts is the Loughlinite itself, a job well done.

Thespians mix ingredients for poisonous drama

Since time immemorial the ability to entertain people and make them laugh has been one of the most honored of talents. With this as their goal, the Dramatics Society has once again enjoyed a successful year amusing Loughlinites and faculty.

As is the case in all of Loughlin's extracurricular activities, the members of the Dramatics Society derive many benefits from their participation in the organization. They acquire poise, the ability to express themselves and to speak before an audience.

The highlight of the thespians' season was their rendition of "Arsenic and Old Lace," presented this year as the annual school play. In keeping with the fine tradition of the society, the play was very successful. This is to be attributed to the many rehearsals of the players themselves, to the guidance of the Society's coach, Mr. Charles Grosse and the encouragement of its moderator, Brother A. John.

Carol Carcano and Monica Hamel find that Pat Gill and Connie San Giovanni make a handsome pair.

Adroit speakers dazzle many attentive audiences

To be able to speak intelligently and express one's opinions on various subjects is a great attribute in life. A man is not a fully developed person if he cannot say what he ponders in his mind in a convincing and persuasive manner.

These aims are developed and realized by participation in the Public Speaking Society. This year's team combines experienced seniors with promising underclassmen for its success formula. In competition there are three main divisions: original oratory, dramatic interpretation and extemporaneous speaking. In these branches the team has done very well especially at the St. John's University Forensic Contest. The future brings contests which again test the Loughlin orators.

Success as a speaker does not come easily. A great amount of cooperation between members and their moderator, Brother B. Charles, is essential. Every day after school the rhetoricians practice their speeches, while the moderator listens attentively as a stern critic. It is only by such constant and untiring effort that oratorical success can be garnered.

George Schneider makes final adjustments in his speech with Brother Charles' help.

Importance of library research is emphasized by top speakers W. Krant, J. Flood, J. O'Leary and Brother Charles.

Debaters voice varied views on world questions

The Debating Team has gained prominence and success this year through the efforts of its fine moderator, Brother Aloysius Kevin, and the hard work of its members.

Outstanding among the Debating Team's many notable successes, was the third place finish in the St. John's University Debating Tournament. Seventy schools were competing in this endeavor. Another first for Loughlin's Debaters was their participation in a televised debate with Archbishop Molloy's debating team.

These early accomplishments prefigure success at the Fordham and N.Y.U. Forensic Contests. The team is young with many promising sophomores. Outstanding in competition this year were Philip Ryan, Rory Dolan, Matthew Walsh, James Flood and Kevin Mulcahy.

Using logic, seeking evidence, forming an opinion and, most important, standing up for what one believes, are the harvest which the debater reaps.

Freshmen orators learn rudiments of good speech

Behind every glorious victory there is a beginning. Every successful endeavor presupposes a strong foundation.

The freshman Public Speaking and Debating Society aims to build the necessary foundation for Loughlin's future orators. After school, under the careful guidance of Brother B. Patrick and Brother A. Daniel, the freshmen speakers learn the fundamentals of correct gestures, of proper pronunciation and enunciation.

The teams have done very well this year in interscholastic contests held in accordance with the Catholic Forensic League. In public speaking our orators are entered in the original oratory and dramatic interpretation divisions, while our debaters anxiously anticipate the contest sponsored by the Azarias Forensic League. Some promising freshmen are: Thomas Moylan, Robert O'Brien, Dermot Kehoe, and Peter Lidoski.

It is the hope of all that these boys steadily improve and develop their talent, for some day they will be Loughlin's representatives in varsity competition.

Lions' loyalty manifested in annual Auxiliary drive

Loughlin's 1960 LaSalle Drive broke all records! Under the direction of Brother C. Richard, the school's returns amounted to 426%, establishing a new school high. Brother Christian, as home-room teacher of room 3A-314, secured first place for the second year in succession with 664%. Close behind were 4A-117 and 3A-319, both with over 600%. The top Freshman class was 1A-405, while 2A-412 won top honors in the Sophomore division.

Proceeds from the drive contribute to the training of young Brothers in the Novitiate at Narragansett, R.I., the Scholasticates, in Troy, N. Y., and at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C.

The total cost of training just one Christian Brother is over ten thousand dollars.

Upon completing their studies these young men will, in turn, devote their talents to the Christian Education of youth throughout the world.

During the drive, educational trips to the Brooklyn Museum and City Hall, movies and prizes, were awarded as tokens of appreciation for their generous work.

Brother B. Stephen, Principal, on behalf of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, concluded the drive by commending everyone on their unselfish efforts that made possible such splendid results.

Patrick Finneran, Charles Vintis, and Francis Mendler indicate their positions as the leaders in their successful effort to put their class in first place.

LaSalle Club gauges generosity of students

With the intention of providing a suitable reward for those boys who do outstanding work in advancing the cause of Christian Education, Brother C. Richard has created the LaSalle Club. Now in its sixth year, the club has grown steadily so that today it boasts nearly seven hundred members, over one-third the total student body.

Admission to this society requires a return of sixty dollars in the Auxiliary Drive, with all those attaining the hundred dollar level automatically becoming representatives. Among other privileges, members are entitled to wear a school letter and to attend the annual LaSalle Prom, one of the highlights of the Loughlin social calendar.

Those who are able to secure $500 in donations during their four years at Loughlin—and this represents a truly extraordinary achievement—are admitted to the exclusive "500" Club.

The LaSalle Club, representing a goal worthy of hard work is responsible, in great part, for the success of this year's drive.

Loughlin Art Club spawns Rembrandts of tomorrow

Art has been said to be a science in the flesh, a shadow of humanity and the conveyance of spirit by means of matter. These are just three of the numerous definitions proffered art through the centuries. But art can not be explained by a standard definition, for art means many different things to many different people.

To the members of the Art Club, art provides an expression of thought and emotion while developing creativity and originality. It helps one to appreciate more fully the things in this universe, after looking at them from an artistic point of view. A member of the Art Club must have initiative, a basic understanding of art and an intense desire to learn.

To members of other school activities, the Art Club and their work may be a means of announcing future events, or of adding a professional touch to one of the school magazines.

Under the expert guidance of Brother Clarence William, the Art Club strives for artistic results of the highest quality. The Art Club is recognized as one of the school's essential activities, not only because it advertises school functions generally, but because it helps students appreciate art in a mechanical world where the true meaning of art is growing obscure.

Brother Clarence William gives John Mangano, Paul Keough, and Stephen Degnen some advice on making posters.

Latin Club encourages appreciation of the Classics

To provide an opportunity for those boys who are interested in reading Latin authors not covered in the school curriculum, Loughlin's varied extracurricular program includes a Latin Club. Meeting weekly under the competent supervision of Brother Angelus Daniel, the members delve deeply into Caesar, Cicero and Vergil in preparation for competing in the various sight translation contests conducted annually in the metropolitan area. These include the Baird Memorial Sight Translation Contest sponsored by New York University, the Catholic Classical Society of Greater New York Sight Translation Contest, and the New York Classical Club Sight Translation Contest. Loughlin's excellent showing in past contests attest to the valuable experience the Latin Club gives to the school's prospective contestants.

This year's twenty members were composed exclusively of sophomores and juniors. As a result of elections, Gerald Janacek was elected President, Joseph Schlupf Vice-President, and Theodore Manno was named Secretary.

With young members, experience, and a capable moderator, the Latin Club looks hopefully to a successful future.

Linguistic recreation provided by French Club

The French Club has always been one of the more popular extra-curricular activities at Loughlin. Now with a moderator, who himself is a native French Canadian, the Club has become a linguists' paradise. Brother Wilfrid came from Canada two years ago. He brought with him the knowledge not only of his native tongue, but also that of French customs and habits.

We have two distinct groups of boys in the club. One group, composed of seniors and advanced French students, pursues the development of their conversational skills. Brother Wilfrid has made available to them numerous tape recordings which are employed to sharpen the students' aural comprehension. The second group, made up entirely of underclassmen, enjoys French films and newspapers which supplement their classroom learning.

During the school year all members had on several occasions had the opportunity to view full-length French film productions, the most outstanding being Le Bourgeois Gentlehomme and Doctor Knock. A club sponsored trip to Quebec was made over the Easter Holidays. Here the students were able to observe first-hand the events in the daily life of the French Canadian people.

"IBM" men delve into the complexities of math

In a world where new discoveries in science are made with startling frequency, greater emphasis is being placed on the field of mathematics, as being a basic tool of the scientist.

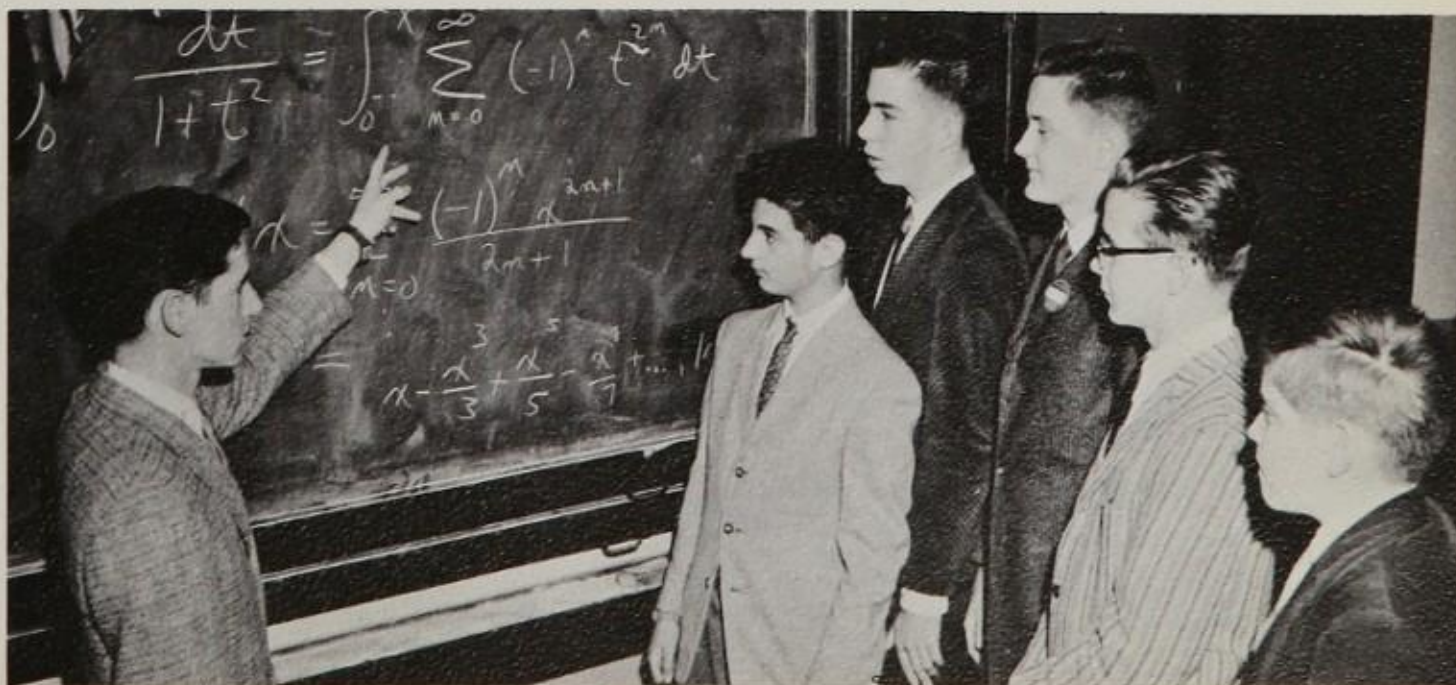

With this in mind, the members of the Math Club, under the able supervision of Mr. Thomas Gehm, discuss at their informal weekly meetings phases of mathematics which are not ordinarily covered in the high school curriculum. Such areas as non-Euclidean geometry, the theory of sets, and transfinite numbers have been recent topics for consideration.

The material explored in the club's meetings is of especial use to its members after they have left Loughlin and are, perhaps, pursuing a science or math course in college. But in any event, the clear thinking and logical reasoning methods which the Math Club fosters will assist the student regardless of the profession he chooses.

Math Club President Peter Junge demonstrates the many time saving uses of the slide rule to officers: Louis Amoroso, George Lewis, Robert Clark.

Paul Avondoglio explains a detailed problem in Calculus to interested members: M. Cichetti, J. Ryan, J. Wilczek, G. Wichern, E. Conway.

Biologists explore the mysteries of nature

Biology, the study of life and living things, is the key to understanding the miracle of the organic world and its denizens. To foster a knowledge of living creatures and their reactions to environment is one of the chief purposes of the Biology Club. Now in its twentieth year, the organization is under the capable supervision of its founder, Mr. George Rogers, and Brother Albert, the club's assistant moderator.

Many practical applications of classroom biology are utilized in the club's activity, such as raising animals in the laboratory, and encouraging participation in the various science fairs conducted annually throughout the city. With its extensive facilities and the fine outlet it provides for the scientific talent of its members, the Biology Club can truly be regarded as a good preparatory organization for Loughlin's future scientists.

Analysis and synthesis performed by Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club, created for advanced scientific study and research, meets several times a week in the chemistry lab under the helpful guidance and careful direction of Brother C. Richard. The members may work separately or as a group to further study the many mysteries of our chemical world.

This method of learning induces a strong quest for learning in the boys. It enables them to become more self dependent in securing their knowledge. Another reason why the club is effective in producing good amateur chemists is that it allows them to come in actual contact with scientific equipment. They have access to all the chemicals and apparatus.

The emphasis in education today is placed on science. The Chemistry Club encourages and furthers this emphasis and in so doing, develops the possible leaders of science in tomorrow's world.

New activities augment extracurricular program

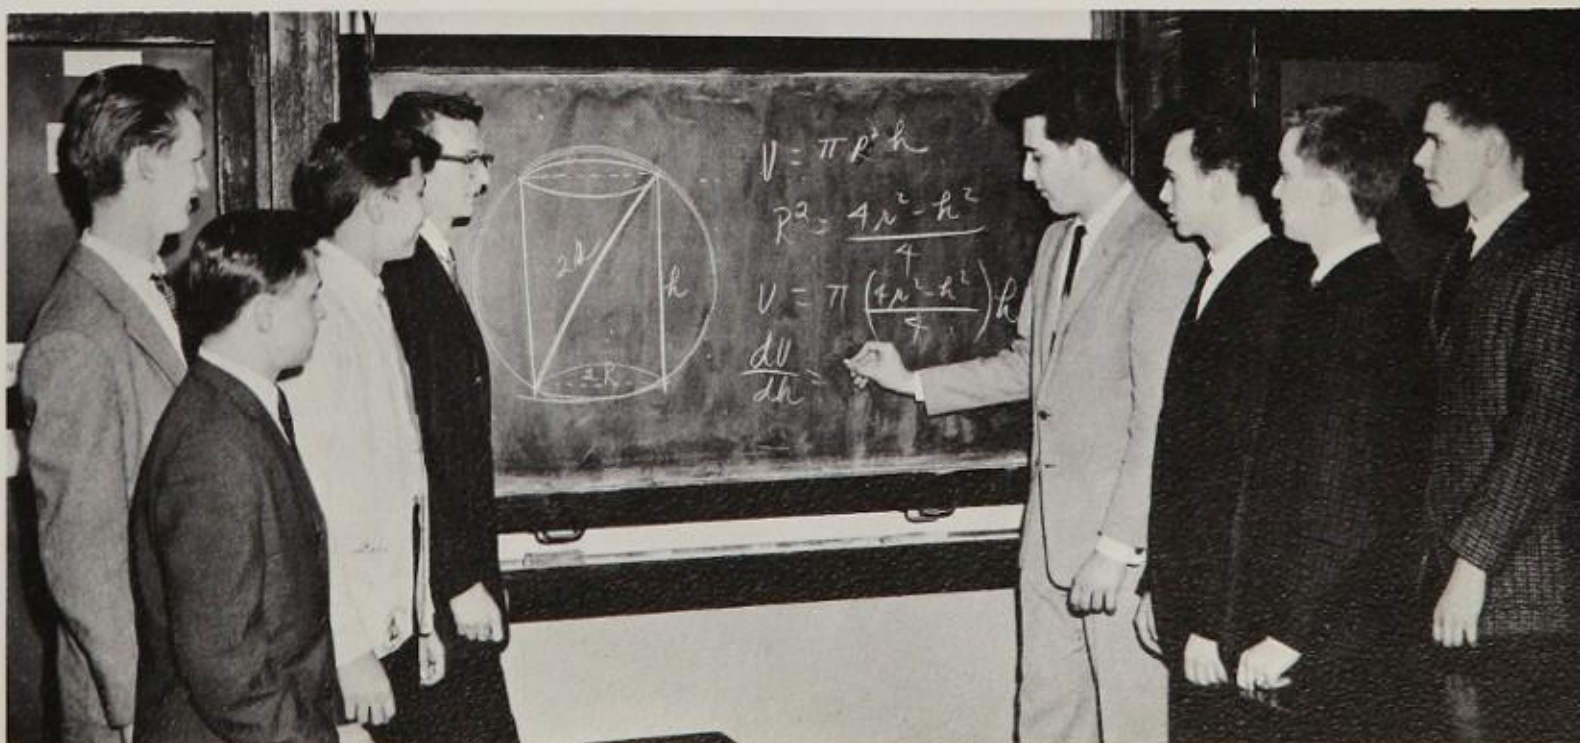

With the development of mighty missiles, miracle drugs and powerful machines, the need for scientists increases with each passing year. In recognition of the importance of science in a highly technical society, Loughlin's extracurricular program has been augmented this year by the addition of a Science Research Club, supervised by its founder Brother Austin Ralph. The purpose of the organization is to foster and develop the scientific talent of its members by encouraging their participation in various projects.

Numerous awards, such as the Westinghouse Science Scholarship, the New York University Science Scholarship, and the National Scientific Teachers Regional Scholarship are offered each year for outstanding projects in the field of science. Many of the club's endeavors are entered in these competitions. In addition, the members also display their projects in various science fairs sponsored by Loughlin and the Brooklyn Diocese.

Sounds of Loughlin are beamed to far horizons

Many of us would like to converse, and exchange opinions with people of foreign lands. Although such direct interchange may seem improbable, members of the Radio Club accomplish this very feat each day in the Physics Lab.

Communication by radio is not only enjoyable and fascinating but is also a very basic need in our daily lives—for today is an era of unity and cooperation. Each country is in some way internationally dependent. Good communication is necessary to achieve and preserve this lasting unity. Radio represents a means to this end.

Under the careful supervision of Brother Angelus Lawrence the "Hams" of Loughlin receive their training and develop technical skill. This year the Radio Club has contacted Chile, Dutch Guiana and Cuba with its new improved transmitter. A few diligent members have amplified the wattage of this transmitter and have made it still more powerful. In the future the club plans to erect a new antenna for more efficient reception. Fifteen members already have either a General or Novice License, and other boys, presently learning code, are preparing for an operator's license.

Radio while bringing the people of the world closer together, promotes international good will and understanding, thereby furthering the cause of world peace.

Camera Club provides a haven for shutterbugs

The Photography Club, a fairly recent addition to the school's activities, has already found a permanent place in Loughlin's extensive extracurricular program. Besides offering the club's members practical experience in the various stages of photography, the organization also lends its services to the school by providing complete photographic coverage of the various phases of school life, both social and athletic. The club's 16 mm. cine sound movies of track meets and basketball games have proved to be of much assistance to the coaches in these sports. The vast majority of the photographs appearing in the Loughlinite are the work of the Photography Club.

Under the guidance of Brother Charles Felix, moderator of the club, the members meet daily in Loughlin's well equipped darkroom. Here they have the opportunity of using the school's apparatus to explore photographic techniques and methods. Through its facilities, the club offers the lensmen, under the leadership of Phil Mercorella, president, a good outlet for their photographic talents and may eventually influence their choice of a career.

Latent talents brought to light at Science Fair

With the increasing importance of science in today's world; it is imperative that the scientists of tomorrow be given opportunities to find an outlet for their talents. This is the chief purpose of the annual Loughlin Science Fair, the third of which was held this year in February.

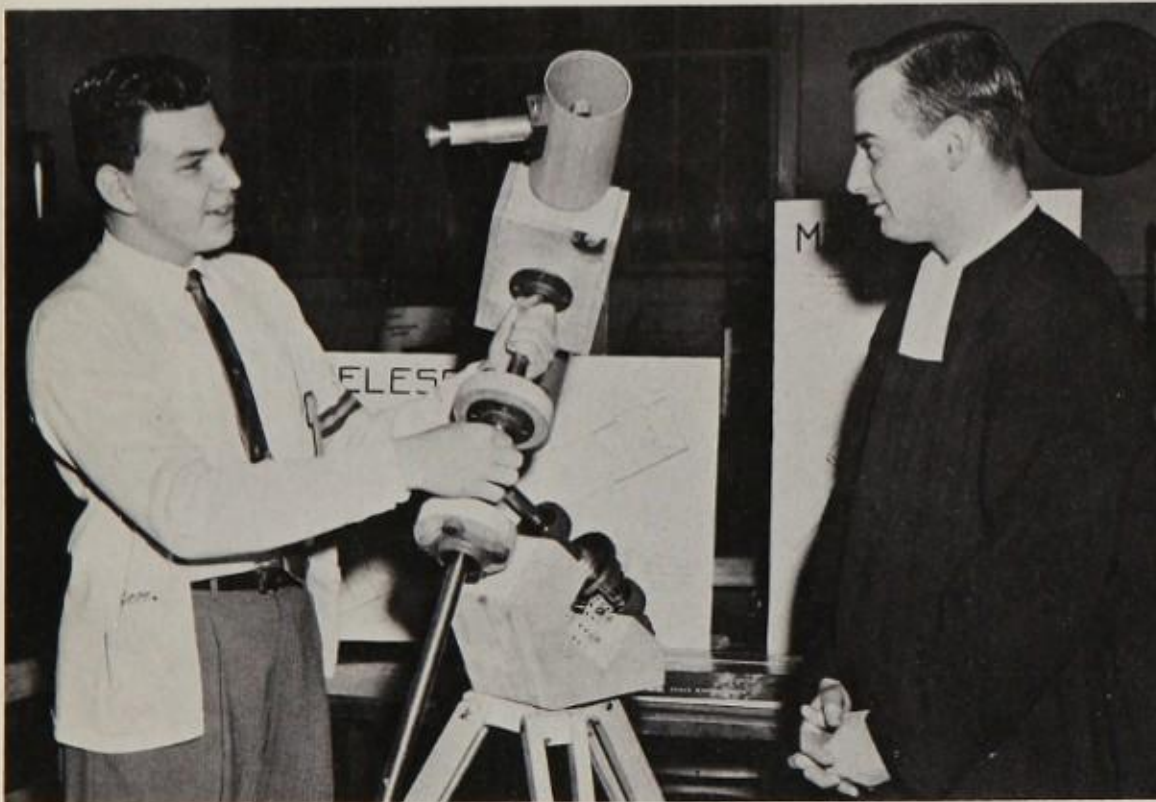

Brother Albert again served in the capacity of chairman of the Fair, with science teachers from neighboring schools acting as judges. As in the two previous Science Fairs, sophomores and freshmen comprised an overwhelming majority of the competitors. First place awards were presented to Andrew Jarosak, a senior, Philip Hessling, representing the junior division, Thomas Stakelon, a sophomore, and freshman Shawn Cannon. All Loughlinites participating in the competition were given certificates acknowledging their efforts.

The Loughlin Science Fair, inaugurated in 1959, has already distinguished itself by not only providing a good channel for the projects of scientifically inclined students, but also by giving the more talented Loughlinites a chance to advance and enter various other science fairs conducted annually in the metropolitan area.

Besides the fine work of Brother Albert, as chairman of the Fair, a great deal of credit must also be extended to Mr. Rogers, whose advice and encouragement motivated many of his students to participate in the competition.

Class of '61 visits seat of Federal Government

This year, as in years past, the graduation class has had the opportunity to visit our nation's Capital. This year's response to the proposed trip was so overwhelming that Brother James, the co-ordinator of Senior Activities, deemed two additional trips necessary.

The groups departed on Friday afternoons directly from school. After five fun-filled hours, their bus brought them safely to the threshold of the Burlington Hotel in the heart of Washington. Once settled in the hotel the boys eagerly set out, on what was for many, their first view of the Capital. Some of the historic points visited were the White House, Smithsonian Institute, the stately Mount Vernon home of our first president and the National shrine. The unusual and startling exhibits at the Army Medical Museum provoked many varied opinions. The evening hours afforded these weary seniors a chance to relax at the hotel. For souls with an endless source of energy there were movies and dances.

Monday afternoon, all too soon, their pleasant sojourn in Washington came to an end. On leaving, one thought was universal: in spite of their fatigue it had been a most memorable and inspiring excursion.

Annual Christmas show delights student body

One of the highlights of each Loughlin school year has always been the annual Christmas show. Directed under the supervision of Brother A. James, the show was organized by a student committee, headed this year by Tom Brennand and Bill Langan.

In keeping with tradition, the entertainment, both musical and humorous, was supplied by the students themselves. Highlighting the program were the performances of the Glee Club and orchestra, and John Loiello's recitation of the Christmas Gospel. Always popular with the student body, the Senior Jazz Combo entertained faculty and Loughlinites with its modern interpretation of Christmas classics. But, of course, the high-spot of the festivities was reached in the annual visit of Santa Claus and his customary distribution of "gifts" to members of the faculty. Finally, the show was completed by Brother B. Stephen's Christmas Message and his wishes for a happy and holy Christmas.

The Keegan brothers, John, Joseph, Francis, and Henry, lend their musical talents to the show.

The music of Loughlin's renowned jazz combo consisting of T. Brennan, L. Dmytryk, E. Tomczak, A. Brunetti, P. Mahoney, J. Ahern, W. Fanning and R. Gorski was a high-light of the program.

The novelty of Bill Fanning's act and his bizarre attire made him a hit with the audience.

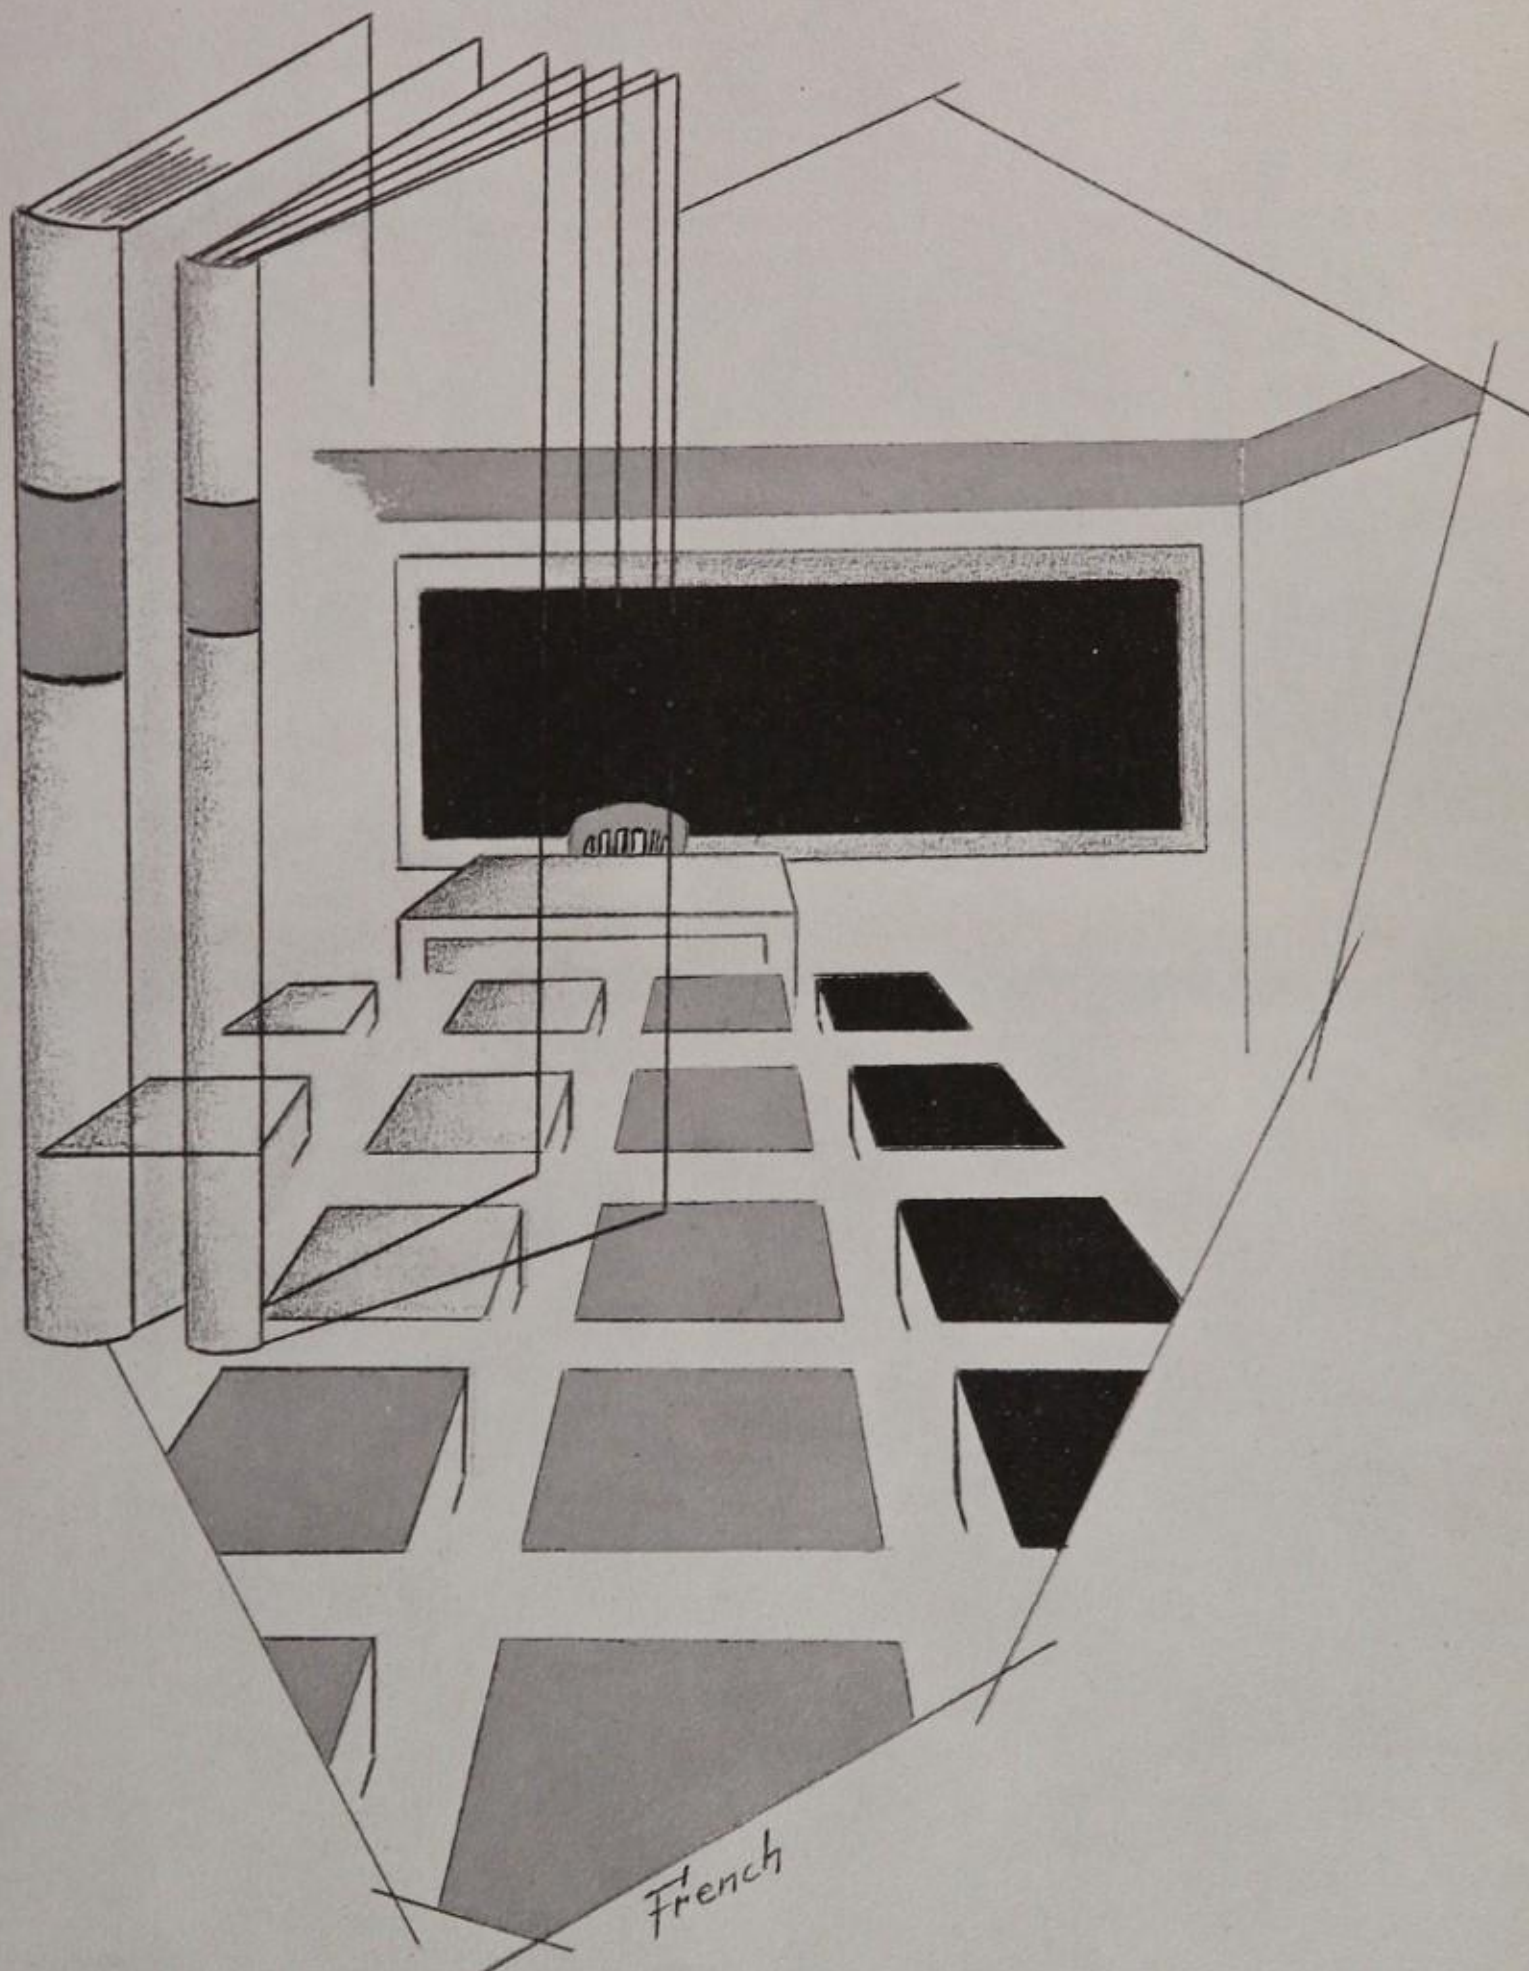

A fine performance on the violin by Mr. Joseph Sheehan.

The conclusion and highlight of the activities was the yearly visit of Santa Claus (Rudy Giuliani), assisted by Edward Dunne and Brian Connell.

Any great organization achieves excellence through the vitality of its individual units. In a nation, it is the family, in an institution dedicated to higher learning, it is the class. Here, there is found a spirit which binds both the class and the school together. In its manifestation, it is called school spirit. It is an air of friendly competition, a sense of dedication to the advancement of the school, and a pride in its accomplishments. To the Loughlinite, this spirit applies to his country as well as to his school. For this reason, he is willing to defend it, is eager for its advancement, and is proud to be a citizen of it.

To formulate an over-all school philosophy, with a view to the fullest development of an integrated maturity in the young men of Loughlin, it is necessary to organize a challenging and intelligent sports program. Students who display any latent potential in sports are given an opportunity to develop and exhibit their physical capabilities. The most able of these are eventually given the responsibility of representing their school in inter-scholastic competition, but, whether victor or vanquished, the Loughlin athlete reaps a harvest of experience for his efforts.

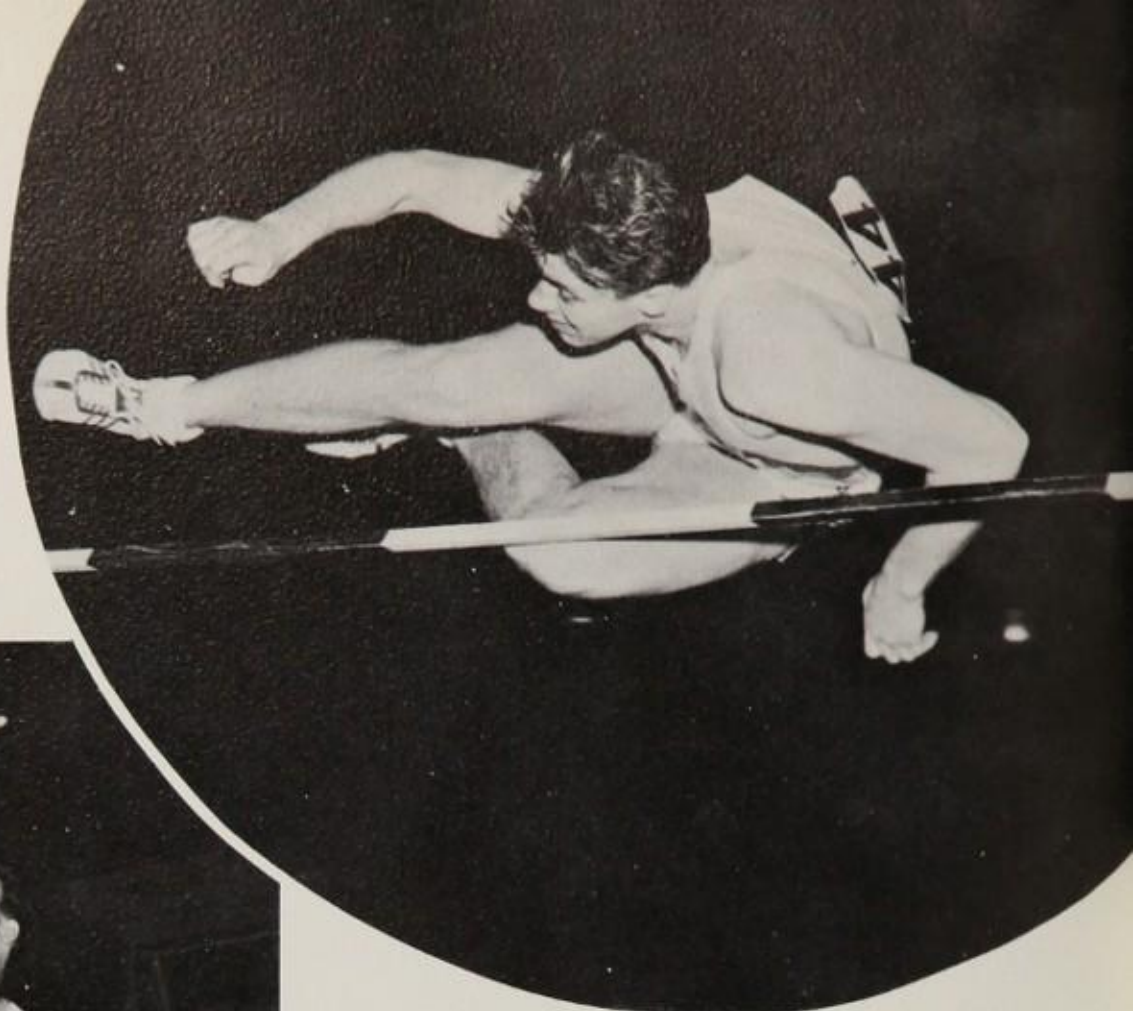

Sports

Larry Costiglio anchors 6-lap relay to victory at the Garden.

With Herculean strength, Pete Haffner hurls 12 lb. ball to the delight of team-mates.

Bob Riley goes up, up and over at 6'2".

Neil Fochrenbach shows winning form in the two-mile relay.

Kerry Moran sweeps the field in the 280 yd. dash.

Lions win second successive Loughlin Games title, edged in Catholics; Coniglio, Haffner, Riley star

The graduation of such standouts as Tyrone Pannell and Matt Schimmenti cast dark shadows on the prospects for the 1960-61 indoor campaign. Many felt that this would be a lean year for the Lions. However, under the guidance of Mr. William Miles, the Varsity coach and Brother C. Denis, the young team quickly proved its worth by winning the season's first major meet and scoring highly in all others.

LOUGHLIN GAMES

As the Seventh annual Loughlin Games approached, the Lions placed their hope for victory in several promising juniors, namely, Ken Coniglio, Pete Haffner and Bob Riley.

In competition with over 2,000 athletes from more than 150 schools, each of these young men scored to give Loughlin a total of 11 points and its second consecutive games title. Ken Coniglio placed second in the 60 yard high hurdles with a time of 7.6 seconds. Pete Haffner garnered a second silver medal with a toss of 52' 5 1/4" in the shot put. Three vital points were added by Bob Riley in the high jump via a three way tie for second place.

HAYES GAMES

In this meet Pete Haffner proved he was second to none by throwing the shot a distance of 53' 3 1/4". This effort gained first place and five precious points for the Lions. Bob Riley finished in a three way tie for fifth and added 1/3 of a point to the cause. Ken Coniglio rounded out the scoring with a third place in the hurdles. The Lions totaled 8 1/3 points to finish fourth in the team standings.

SAINT FRANCIS MEET

Ken Coniglio and Pete Haffner again set the scoring pace for the Lions. Haffner placed second in the shot put with a toss of 53' 6". Coniglio was caught in 7.7 for his tour over the hurdles. This clocking was worth a silver medal to Ken and four points to the team. Together they totaled eight points to give Loughlin third in the over all team score.

MAYOR'S MEET

A harsh blow was dealt the Purple'n'Gold when Ken Coniglio, the favorite, after tying the meet record of 7.7, stumbled in the final and was put out of scoring contention. Despite this misfortune the Lions tallied six points, four of which were scored by Pete Haffner, who tossed the 12 pound ball 51' 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ ". Bob Riley secured two more points by finishing in a five way tie for second place at the high jump with a leap of 5' 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ ".

NYU MEET

On the night of February 18, 1961 the team traveled to the 102nd Engineers Armory where they competed in the NYU Invitational Meet.

Loughlin was deprived of Pete Haffner's sure points in the shot put since the program lacked this event. The Lions, however, compiled 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ points to finish in third place. Ken Coniglio, finishing second in the high hurdles, tied the school record of 7.4 seconds which was set by Tyrone Pannell last year. The mile relay composed of K. Moran, T. Babor, P. McGrath and M. Zarzycki, tied for second place with a time of 3:30.5.

NATIONALS

The competition in this meet was the sharpest faced by the Lions in the course of the entire indoor season. The mile relay of Moran, McGrath, Babor and Zarzycki proved itself to be one of the top teams in the country by finishing third. Ken Coniglio, in an exciting photo finish final, was awarded a third place. His time of 7.5 seconds for the 60 yard hurdles equaled the winning time, but the pictures showed him to be a whisker off the pace. With these splendid efforts, the trackmen amassed six points to place fourth in the team standings.

BROOKLYN-LONG ISLAND SECTIONALS

This meet is unique in that it is won, not merely by one or two outstanding athletes but by a complete and total team effort. The Lions totaled 34 $\frac{1}{2}$ points to finish four points behind Archbishop Molloy.

Those athletes responsible for this fine showing were Ken Coniglio, and Bob Taddeo; first and second respectively in the

The 880 yard relay team, composed of Christopher, Coniglio, Sacklyn and Leporati, finished second; another 880 yard relay team of Flaherty, Boudreau, Glasser and O'Leary placed fifth; the two mile relay team consisting of Borger, Foehrenbach, Sheridan and Traynor captured fifth place.

CHSAA CHAMPS

The morning of March 4th found the 9th Avenue end of the arena at Madison Square Garden filled by the many students who had come to cheer on the team. Those who attended were not disappointed for this meet proved to be THE most exciting of the indoor campaign. In a tightly fought battle with Archbishop Molloy, the Lions tallied 27 $\frac{1}{2}$ points to finish second, only $\frac{1}{2}$ point behind the Stanners.

Pete Haffner hurled the steel ball a distance of 55' 7" to give Loughlin its first gold medal. Ken Coniglio and Bob Taddeo again finished one-two in the hurdles. The former clipped 1/10 of a second off the meet record with an exceptional clocking of 7.8. Bob Riley turned in one of the most outstanding performances of the meet when he sailed over the bar at 6' 2" to tie for first place at the high jump. The mile relay of P. McGrath, R. Babor, M. Ungeheuer and M. Zarzycki finished first with a clocking of 3:32.8 and added five more points. K. Moran completed the Loughlin scoring by capturing second place in the 280 yard dash with the splendid time of 30.8.

J.V. wins Relay Carnival, gain berths on Varsity.

The guidance of coach Mr. William Miles and Brother C. Denis, moderator, has again turned out a team of championship caliber. The team showed suprising strength by winning three of the four Novice events in the CHSAA Relay Carnival. The Novice mile relay composed of S. Glasser, M. Ungeheuer, L. Dawkins and M. Zarzycki, in sweeping their event, clipped six seconds off the old record. Fred Borger, running an excellent 208 half mile anchor leg, led his teammates, C. Foehebach, R. Hauck, and E. Minall to victory in the two mile relay. The 880 yard relay team of Ralph Aliventi, Larry Costiglio, Bernard Thompson and Robert Riley, also brought home first place laurels with the excellent time of 1:39.2.

Other athletes who produced exceptional performances were Boudreau, DeYoung, Sullivan, Napolitano, Caulfield and Maffucci in the sprints; Sheridan, Hyland, Braasch, and Shanley at the middle and distance runs; Paris and Synan in the high jump.

Freshmen take second in Christian Brothers' Meet.

Finding a man to fill the shoes of Brother C. John, the former Freshmen track coach, was no easy task. However, after much consideration, the appointment was given to Brother A. Stephen who would attempt to mold the stumbling and insecure freshmen into the surefooted and confident varsity squad of the future. After much sacrifice and practice on the part of all, the team has been shaped into one of the best in many a year. In the future the following should keep the bright flame of Loughlin's present glory burning: Steve Wilson, Conrad Trezza, Pete Dewey, John Gasparino, Al Leporati, Harold Nichter, and Bill Courtney.

X- Country Team 3rd in Christian Brothers' Meet.

Mid-September brought a young but determined group of Loughlin harriers to the Prospect Park course in preparation for the oncoming Cross-Country meets.

The lack of experienced runners created an obstacle which, if it had not been for the understanding and competent guidance of Mr. William Miles, would have resulted in the complete destruction of any hope the team might have had for success. In addition to the absence of Seniors the team captain George Cappiello was sidelined with a wrenched knee for the first half of the season.

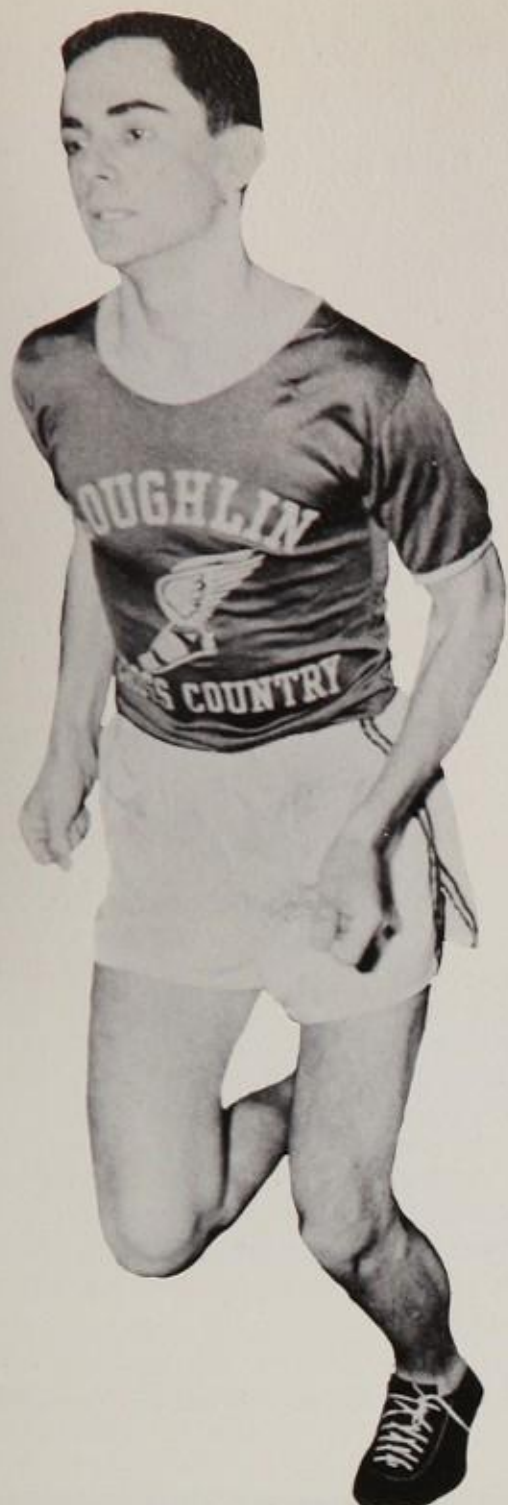

Mr. Miles wisely included an unusually large number of sophomores in the varsity team. Most outstanding in this exceptional group of underclassmen were: F. Borger, E. Minall, G. Shanley, M. Hyland, J. Haggerty, E. Braasch and C. Valentino. Borger established a precedent for the other sophs when he won the J. V. title in the Eastern States Championships with a time of 15:14. However, these sophs merely complemented the third year men who formed the nucleus or core of the squad. Notable among these were: K. Sheridan, R. Hauck, R. Baechler, Neil and Carl Foehrenbach, C. Traynor and W. White, the team's lone senior. The outstanding achievements of the Varsity team were a third place in the Christian Brothers Meet and a fifth in the Eastern States Championships. George Cappiello led the team with a clocking of 14:38 for the 2½ mile course in the latter while Ed Minall starred in the former.

The frosh squad, sporting such standouts as Charles McGuire, the new school record holder, Harold Nichter and Don Boyce looks like a good thing in future years.

Lions capture League and City Crowns

Loughlin's charging five soared to the divisional and city championships. After a win against Xaverian, the Lions suffered their only defeat at the hands of an aggressive Chaminade team. The team then rolled up fourteen straight victories in league play with wins over St. Francis, Trinity, Holy Cross, Molloy, St. John's, St. Augustine, Cathedral, Brooklyn Prep, and McClancy high schools. The team then roared on to the City Championships.

The success of the team was due to its fine spirit and the very capable coaching of Mr. Tedesco. Under his careful supervision, the team was molded into the Championship squad.

There were many highlights in the season, but the most outstanding were Loughlin's first victory over Molloy, Willie Wolter's tap-in against the Stanners in the City Championships, and the fine point scores by Artie Klink, Lenny Schnappauf and Larry Lembo. Lenny Schnappauf, the team captain and All-City player, Larry Lembo, All-Catholic star, together with Artie Klink and Gene Parchinski, provided the spark that the team needed in the clutch.

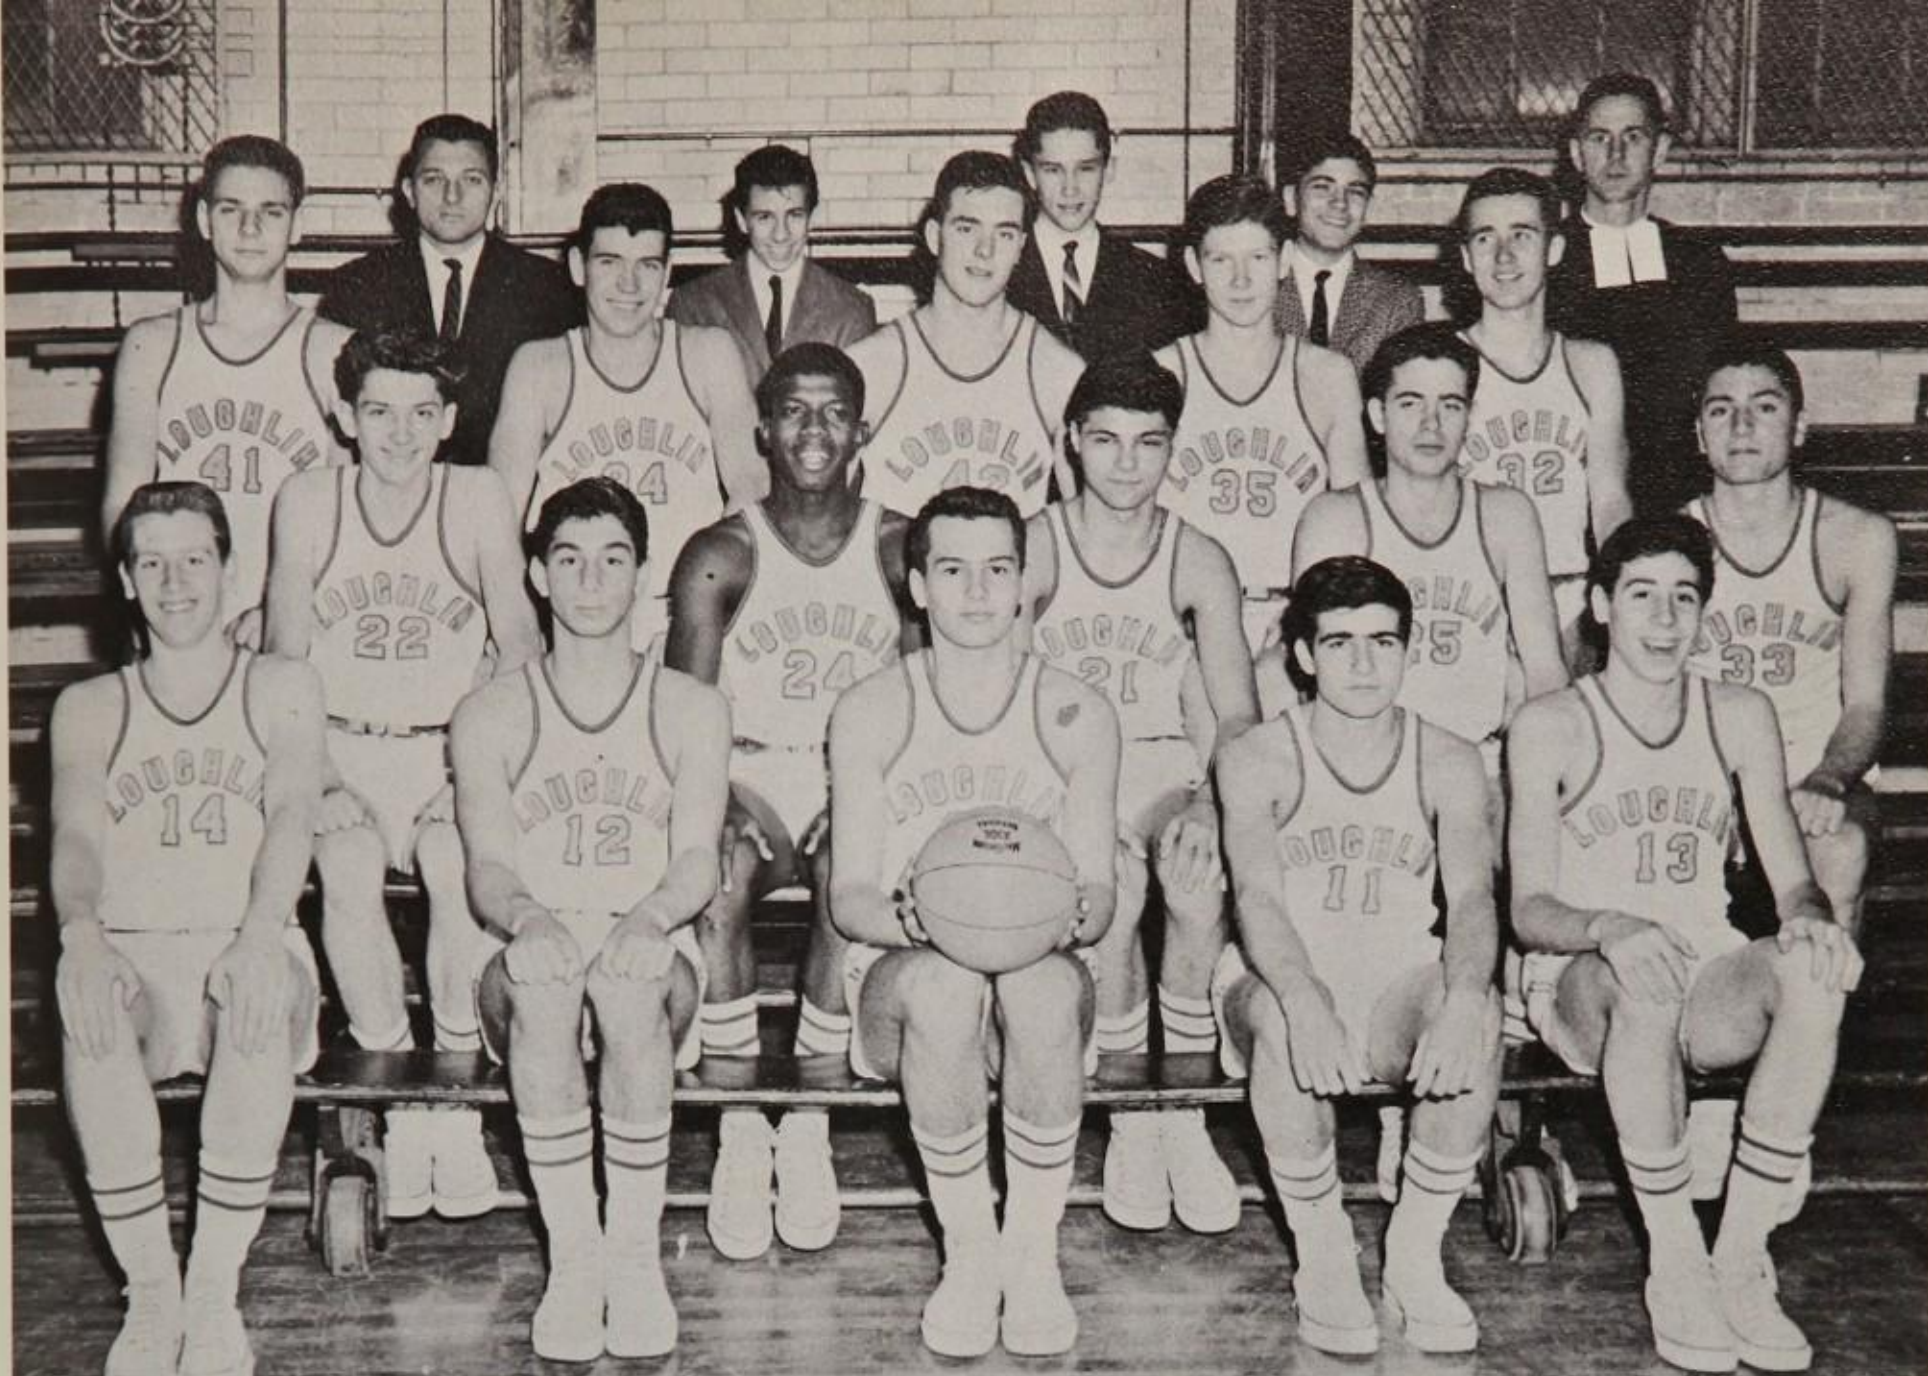

In addition to the City Championship, the team captured first place in the Christian Brothers Tournament. Lenny Schnappauf was voted most valuable player and Larry Lembo was selected to the All-Star team.

At the Nationals in Washington, Loughlin's Varsity cagers proved their greatness by coming in second. In the first game Loughlin outscored a highly rated St. John's team 67-55. In its next encounter the Lions conquered an aggressive Notre Dame 59-57. The third and final game was a show of true Loughlin spirit. Although underdogs all the way the Lions came within three points of winning the Nationals. They were defeated in overtime by DeMatha 71-68. This year's team was the greatest in Loughlin history.

Artie Klink hooks over outstretched Gael in City Championships.

The year 1961 was a momentous one for the Lions. For the first time in thirty-one years the team captured the City Championship. The first game pitted Loughlin against Mount St. Michael's. Led by Larry Lembo's 28 points, Loughlin took its first step toward the title, defeating the Mounties 74-61. The second game saw the Purple and Gold defeat their biggest rivals from Molloy in a thrilling double-overtime game 48-46. Willie Wolters tapped in the winning two points, and Lenny Schnappauf contributed 22 points to the Loughlin cause.

With the cry of "All Hallows to the gallows," the Lions paced by Artie Klink's 20 points, defeated the Gaels 62-50. The Lions were City Champs!

Credit for the victory goes not only to the players but also to Mr. Tedesco, Brother A. Michael and Brother Christopher of Mary, who carefully trained these boys from freshman through senior year.

J.V. Squad shows might in league, garners third place

Loughlin's high-flying Junior Varsity basketball team captured third place in league play with a record of twelve wins and four defeats. The team produced many promising stars. The most outstanding of these was Willie Wolters, a sophomore whose scoring and rebounding ability was so good that he was promoted to the varsity team. This was a wise move, as Wolters proved in the Molloy game of the City Championships.

The JV's sharpshooters, André Violet and Peter McNerney, excelled in scoring. The boards were controlled for the Lions by John Zarzicki, another very promising sophomore. Credit for team's fine record is due to the tireless efforts of Brother A. Michael, the team's excellent moderator. With the addition of these fine players to the juniors on the varsity, Loughlin can look forward to another great year in interscholastic basketball.

Little Lions develop varsity stars of future

This year's freshmen team promises great success for the years to come. Warren Bennia, Joe Povolny, and Ronnie Barden starred in tallying the points for Loughlin. Bennia proved to be so adept that he was named to replace Willie Wolters on the Junior Varsity. Rebounding was under the control of two tall Lions, Alex Smirnow and Ken Puttlitz.

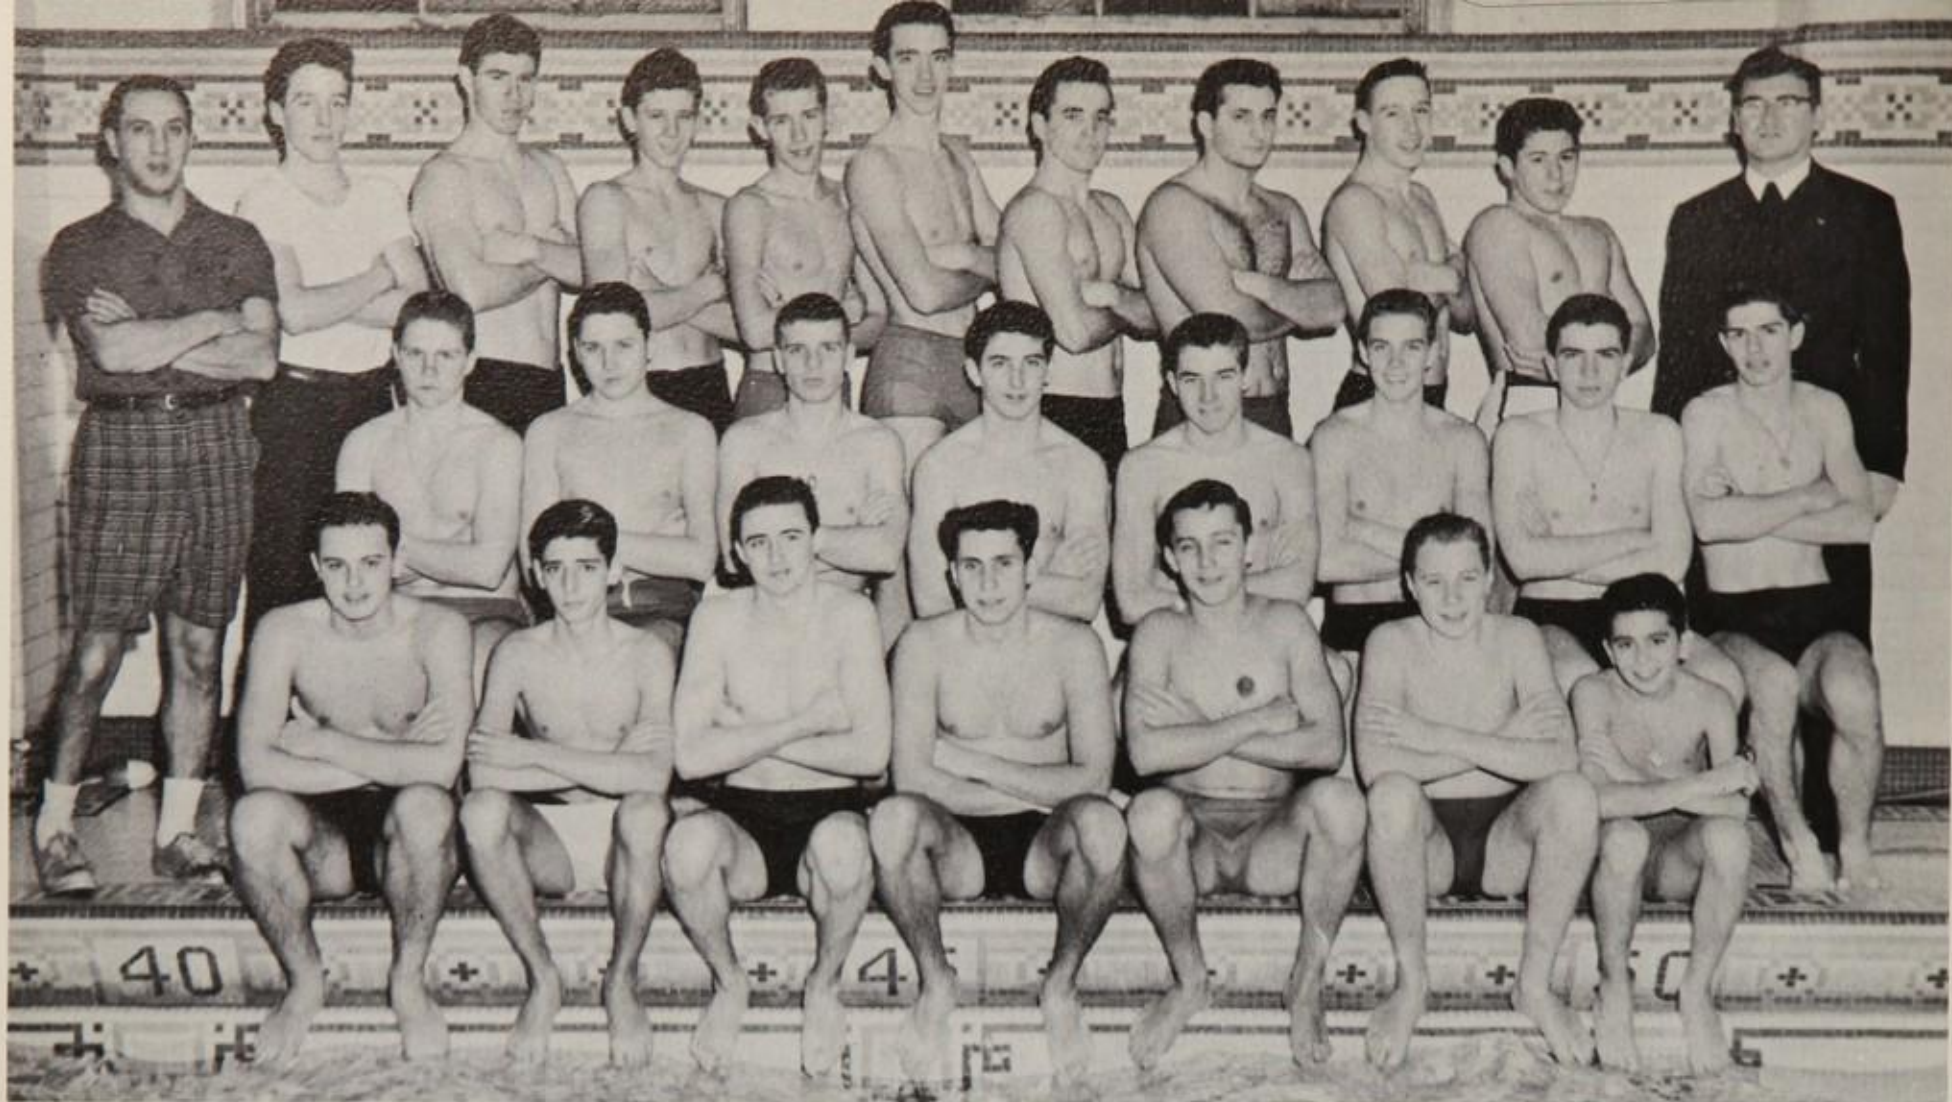

Three outstanding backcourt men, K. Coffey, R. DiLorenzo, and S. Wilson, displayed noticeable skill. Brother Christopher of Mary, moderator, carefully trained these boys and believes they will benefit Loughlin in their remaining three years at the school.

Swimmers place second in CHSAA standings

A strong combination of seniors and juniors together with a group of promising underclassmen, captured second place in CHSAA Dual Meet standings. Credit for this fine finish lies with the boys who displayed their excellence, and in particular with the superb coaching of Mr. Harry Benvenuto and the fine organizational work of Brother B. Michael.

In dual meets, all opponents except Cardinal Hayes and St. Francis were beaten by the Purple and Gold aquamen. Outstanding in these meets were M. Quaid and D. Palese in the 50 yard freestyle; A. Pagano and H. Kehoe in the 100 yard freestyle and the butterfly; G. Mandina in diving; R. Kerwick and C. Jones in the individual medley, and in the 200 yard freestyle relay the team of Palese, Quaid, Kerwick and Pagano.

In the individual championships, Loughlin captured third place. Quaid took first place in the 100 yard freestyle; Pagano garnered third place in the 100 yard butterfly, and Kerwick was third in the 200 yard individual medley. The powerful relay team of Palese, Kerwick, Quaid and Pagano finished only one-tenth of a second behind the winning team.

In addition to success in the CHSAA, the swimming season ended on a highly encouraging note. West Islip, last year's Long Island champions, were beaten. Uniondale was next. After having been defeated by Loughlin, they won eighteen consecutive dual meets. However, our swimmers again showed their superiority, setting two pool records in the process.

At the end of the season a new facet was added to the swimming team. The mermen planned to compete as a water polo team. By displaying the same spirit that they have always shown, their success in this endeavor was true to form.

Varsity Keglers capture divisional championship

Loughlin's Varsity Bowling Team topped off a highly successful season by winning the Brooklyn-Queens Divisional Championship. In the playoffs for the City Championship they lost to LaSalle by 15 pins.

The keglers started the season by winning their first five matches, the team then hit a slump, but by sweeping their last six games they annexed the title for the third straight year. The team was led by Captain John Maceli, Joe Kalinowski and John Manello. It can be pointed out that the team was never shut out during the regular season's play; they always managed to win points in all their matches.

In winning their last six games the team defeated Chaminade, Xaverian and St. Francis. When the Lions entered the semi-finals of the City Championships they faced a strong LaSalle team. The team lost by 15 pins for two games thus eliminating them from competition. The team although unable to win the Championship, showed itself in true Loughlin fashion by good sportsmanship and sincere effort.

J.V. Bowlers place third in league competition

Fighting down to the last day of the season, the J.V. Bowlers attained third place in the Catholic High School Athletic Association of Brooklyn and Queens. The team started the year in first place but due to individual mishaps they lost the title in their last match.

During the season the team defeated keggers from St. Francis, Trinity, Xaverian and Molloy. The team was led by Captain Rick D'Annunzio, Ray Cyrgalis, and Tom Hebel. Rick posted one of the highest averages in the league by averaging 167 for 27 games. Brother C. Benedict wisely analyzed the victories attained throughout the season as the result of a total team effort and not one individual's performance.

On the last day of the season the Lions met Chaminade. The team had to win both games in order to finish in first place. Due to injuries to two members of the team, the Lion keggers were defeated by the Flyers. Despite this final defeat, the keggers looked back on an enjoyable and challenging season.

Handball Team makes strong bid for title

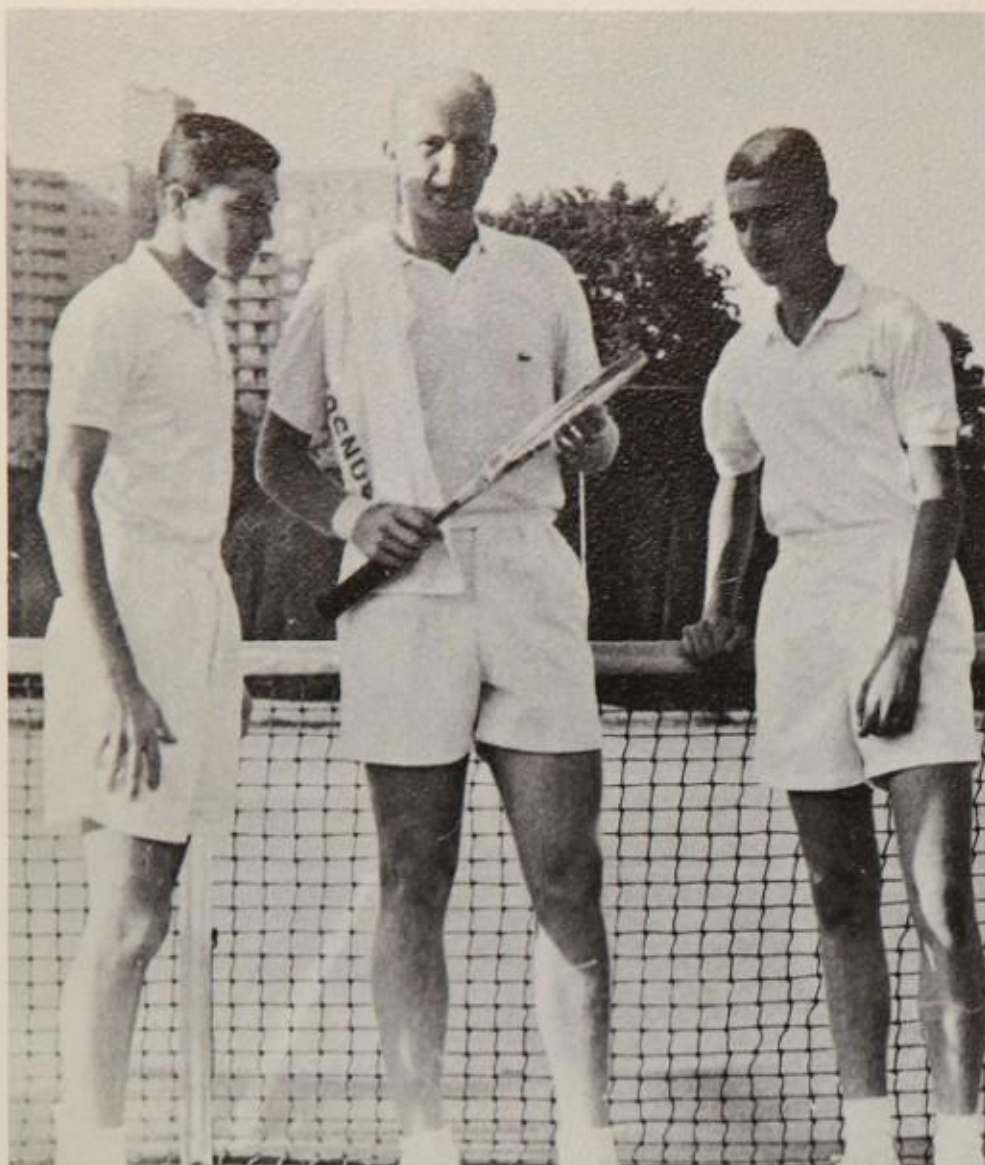

Although the handball team had lost several of its players upon graduation, the team has been replenished by several new prospects. Brother Brendan Michael, starting with a nucleus of six men, has built a team of significant strength.

Brother Michael feels that the only cure for inexperience is constant practice. Each day the handball team can be seen training for upcoming matches. Among those who have added strength to the team are Pete Vainius, Jim McCauley and Bill Daly.

Since the league requires the seeding of the singles and doubles players, the victories amassed in competition shows a total team success for all concerned.

Tennis Team shows might in fall season

The tennis team is entering upon its second year under the tutelage of Brother Alban Francis. This year's squad combines many very capable veterans and some outstanding underclassmen. The Varsity has the potential for duplicating the feat of the 1955 team which won the CHSAA Championship.

Brother Alban brought the team to top condition before the fall season began. His efforts were realized by the team's fine record of four wins and two defeats. The Lion netmen achieved impressive victories over Bryant and Newtown. Matches were also played with Midwood, Brooklyn Tech and Horace Mann. In addition, Loughlin encountered teams representing N.Y.U. and Columbia. This year the Lions plan to sponsor their own doubles tournament.

Outstanding among the players are Len Scialpi, Andy Dalski, Jim Harris and Tony Ficara. The underclassmen are represented by Vinny Mikol, Pete Hadhazy and Tom O'Donoghue.

Brother Alban feels that the team's fine drive will enable them to win the championship in the spring and increase Loughlin's name in athletic circles.

Lionmen represent treat for CHSAA crown

Loughlin's varsity baseball team will be a strong contender for the CHSAA title according to pre-season predictions. The team has the added benefits of the fine coaching of Mr. Ralph Tedesco, under the moderatorship of Brother Angelus Lawrence. The nucleus of the diamondmen is a group of veteran seniors, particularly an all-lettermen infield.

The infield consists of Lenny Schnappauf (1B), Mike Delia (2B), Jim Kwiatkowski (SS) and Joe Blythe (3B) with Bill Murphy as an all around handyman. The pitching corps, led by Whitey Witowski, Richie Linkh, Larry Lembo and Joe Blythe, will be more than adequate help in bolstering the hard-hitting Lions. Gene Parchinski, a CHSAA all-star last year, will provide excellent receiving for these pitchers. The leading contenders for outfield posts are Jack Crispi, Walt Irving, Ernie Wittenborn, Jack Wynne, Whitey Witowski and Larry Lembo. Loughlin's nine shapes up as a team that may very well sweep the CHSAA crown if all players fulfill present expectations.

Prospects high for powerful Junior Varsity Squad

Although there are only a few experienced players on the Junior Varsity, the outlook is very bright for the coming season. Led by J. Zarzicki, the leading pitcher and batter, the little Lionmen will have a well-balanced club. J. Clarke, D. Garibaldi, W. Bennis and R. Katulka will back up Zarzicki. The infield consists of J. Povolny, R. Katulka, J. Albies and W. Bennis. The catching duties will be shared by J. Hoefflich and

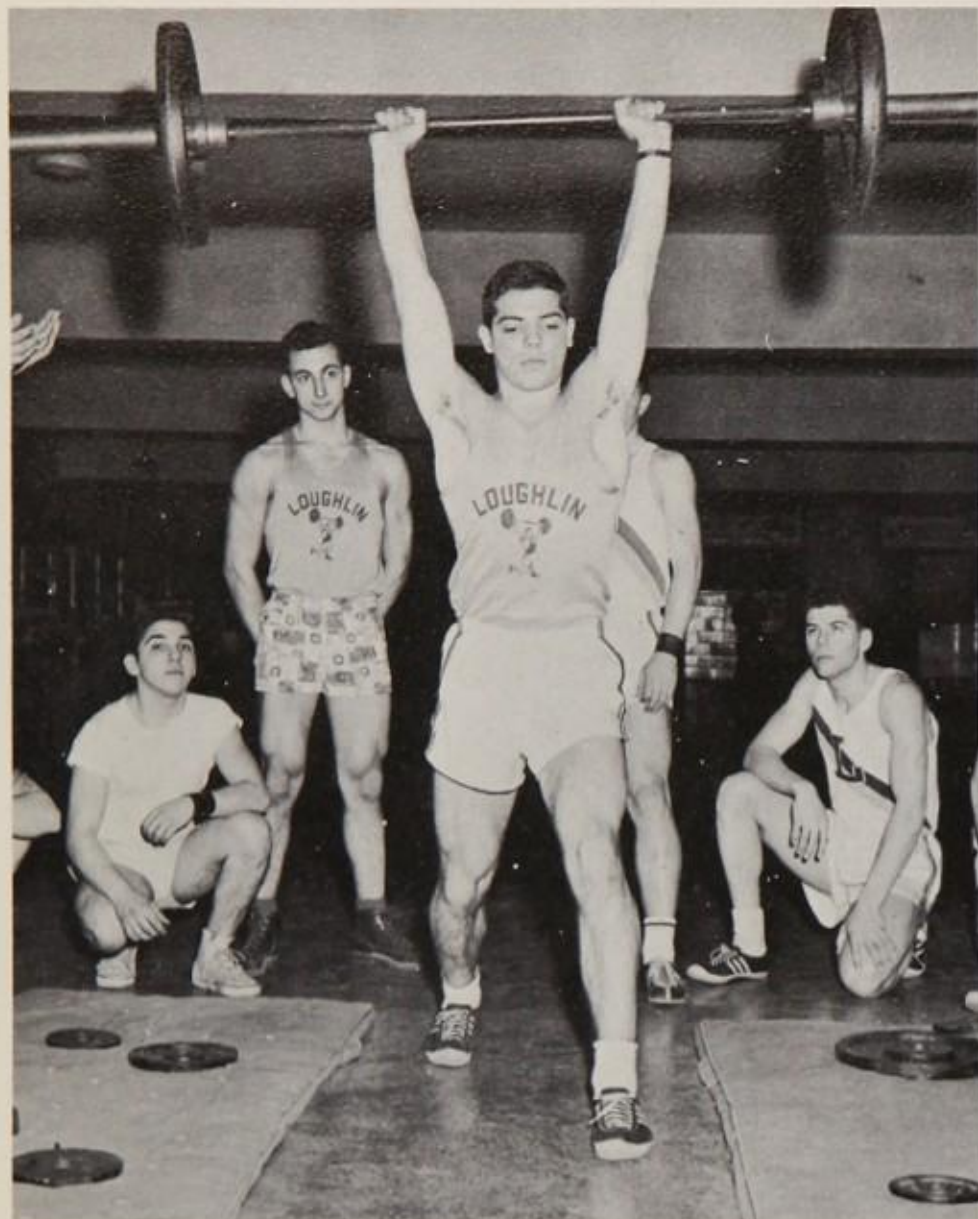

J. Hannafin. The probable starters in the outfield are D. Walsh, J. Howard and J. Albertella.

Brother Amator Lawrence will aid this promising team with his excellent coaching and management. G. Brady will help in the operation of the squad by assisting Brother Lawrence in scoring and organizational work. The club has the talent to give all opponents a hard battle in their quest for the J. V. CHSAA pennant.

R. Katulka, J. Hoefflich, J. Clarke, and J. Povolny form nucleus of J. V. infield.

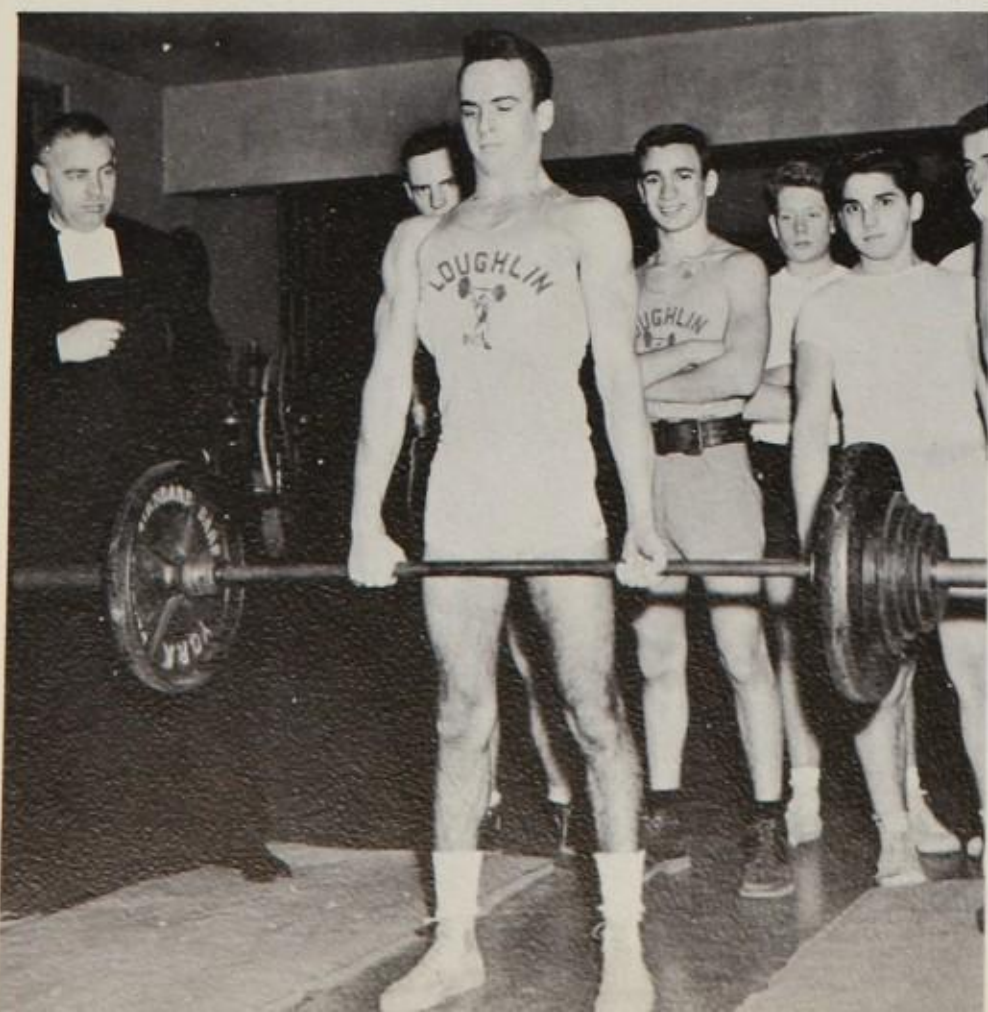

Lifters score in open and interscholastic contests

Larry Costiglio does a snatch using the split style.

Ray Bucaria hoists heavy weights in the dead lift.

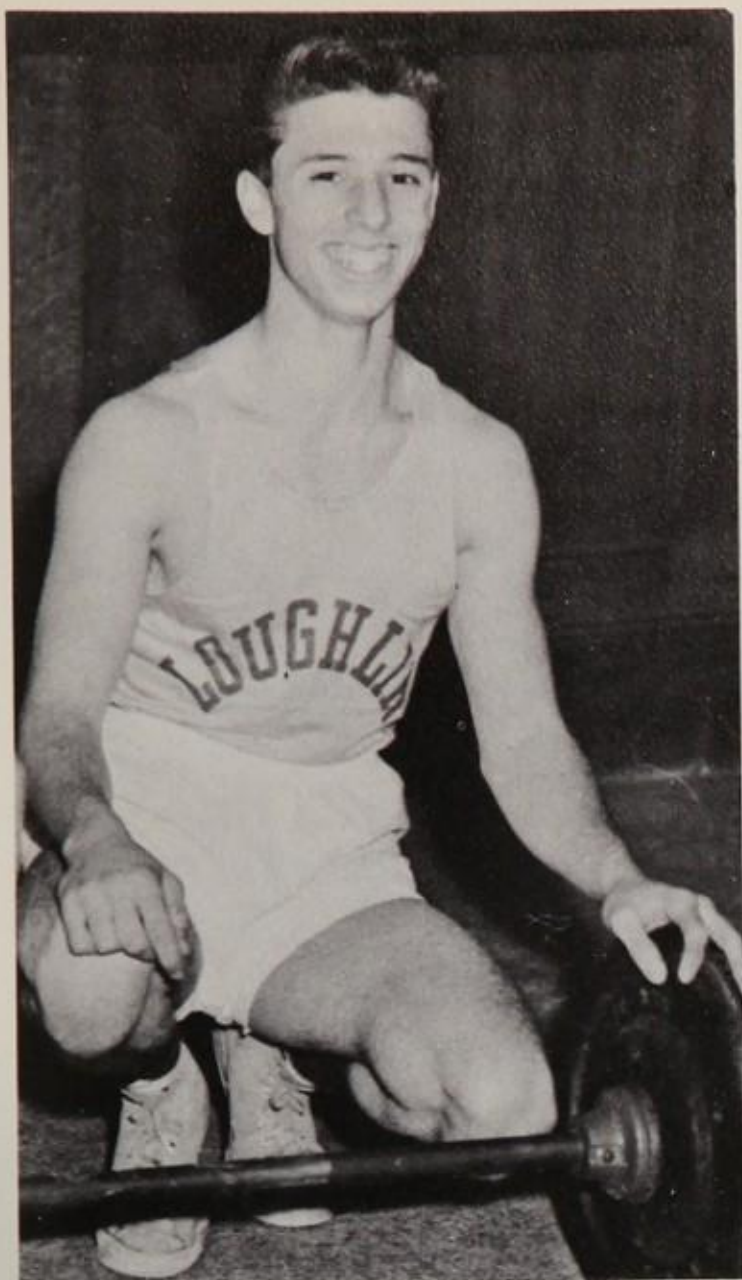

In its fourth year of competitive lifting, Loughlin's varsity team entered and scored in several meets held in the metropolitan area. Tom Lopresto, Vic Schreiner, Tony Casella and Dick Tortorici won medals and trophies in the Teen-Age Open Meet (A.A.U.), the Teen-Age Handicap Meet, the Open Development Meet and the Teen-Age Open Meet (Y.M.C.A.). Interscholastic meets were arranged with Sewanaka High School and Elmont High, in which George Bertles, Tom Lopresto, Tony Casella, Martin Murray and Pete Mahoney won trophies; Dick Tortorici, Tom Bieselin, Tom Burns and Peter Haffner scored points for the team.

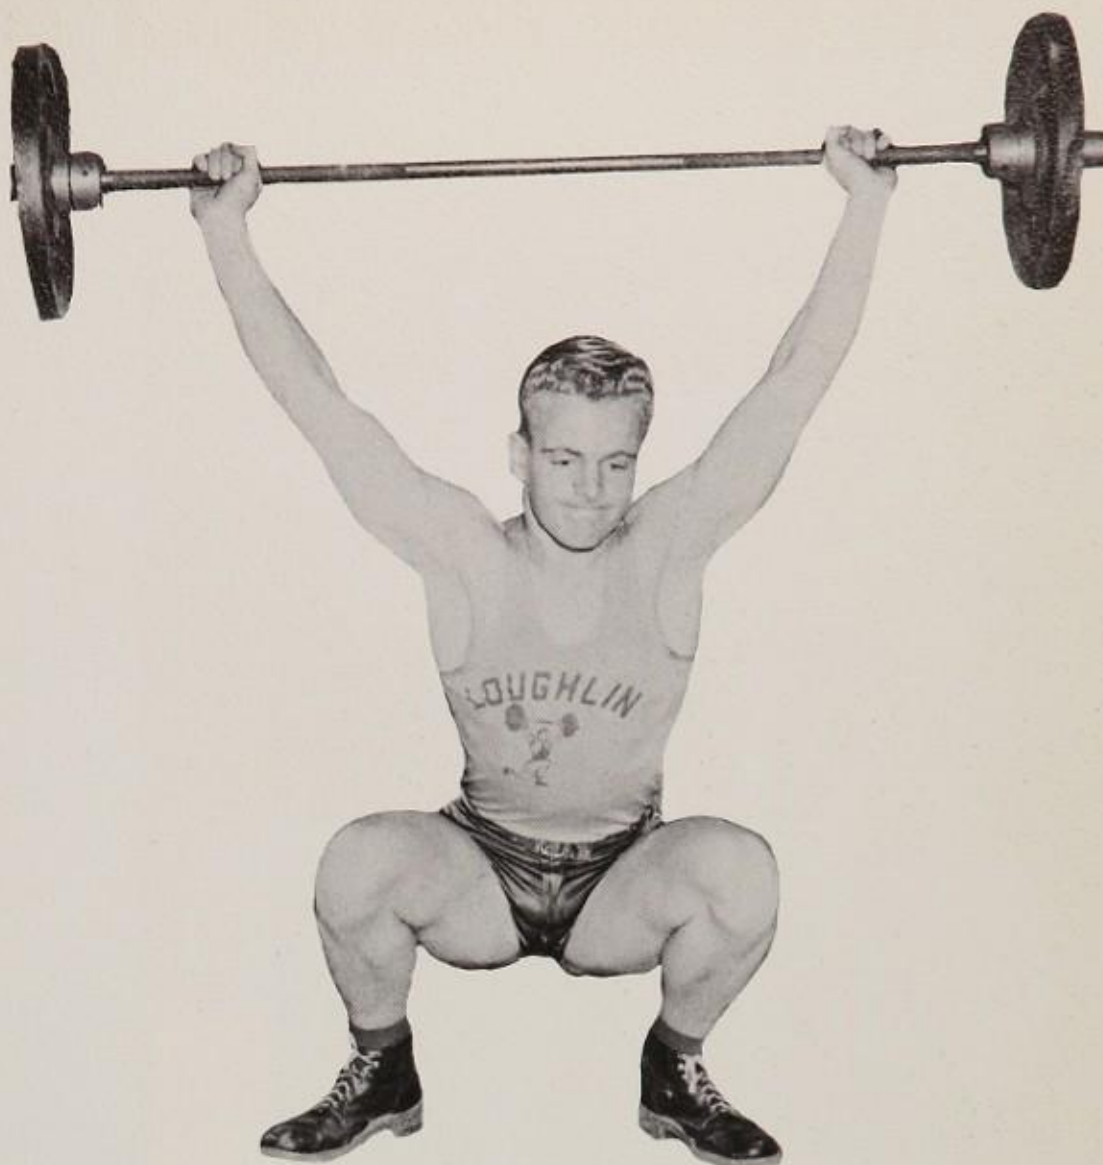

On December 8, 1960, Casella, Lopresto, Bertles and Murray travelled with Brother Francis, moderator of the club, to LaSalle Military Academy, Oakdale, L.I., to present a clinic and demonstration of weightlifting techniques. The Cadets gave them a royal welcome and proved to be an appreciative audience. During Thanksgiving week-end a rather informal group of Alumni gathered for an evening of weightlifting as a conditioner for athletics. This indicated that the weight-training program has arrived and found a home at Loughlin.

Vast intramural program sparks competitive spirit

Loughlin's extensive intramural program offers competitive activities to those who do not have the time to focus their attention on a varsity sport.

Under the attentive guidance of Brother C. Adrian, the widely diversified program has become an integral part of Loughlin's extracurricular activities. Participation in the various sports gives moderators the chance of discovering talents which might benefit one of the school's many sports at some future time. Rewards, in the form of trophies and medals, are given to the outstanding competitors.

The most popular sport by far is bowling. Under the excellent supervision of Brother C. Jerome, students turn out in large numbers to "topple the maples." This year there was great interest among the seniors in football, which provided some furious competition. The intramural program helps Loughlin men to complement keen minds with sound bodies.

Brother C. Adrian congratulates John Marshall and his father upon winning the bowling tournament.

Brother Stephen congratulates K. Savatiel, J. Caputo, L. Cuzzi, R. Cyrgalis, W. Brown, R. Wysocki and J. Caracciolo and their fathers upon winning the father and son bowling tournament.

The big 117 line holds off the on-rushing defenders.

Alex Giaquinto kicks off as his teammates rush down field.

R. Brady finishes ahead of P. Gouck in the freshmen track intramurals.

Brother Philip starts off a sprint in the freshmen track intramurals.
